LABOR LEADERS FIGHT TRIAL IN DYNAMITE CASES

Labor leaders all throughout the city today started a movement to fight the extradition of the men arrested in the dynamite cases and their removal to Indianapolis for trial, their indictments having been returned there by the federal grand jury. One of the men arrested is Michael J. Young of Boston, who is accused in connection with the Boston Opera House plot.

In New York today Frank C. Webb and Patrick F. Farrell appeared before United States Commissioner Alexander and withdrew their waiver of examination.

This action is taken as the first gun in the fight that will be made by the labor leaders in various parts of the country to escape trial.

CHARGE YOUNG FINANCED BOSTON OPERA HOUSE JOB

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 16.—Disclosure of part of the evidence unearthed by the Federal Grand Jury in the dynamite investigation connecting members of the executive board of the iron workers with the shipments of explosives has followed a hasty visit of Detective W. J. Burns to Indianapolis. Burns today is on his way to New York after having once more brought the name of Samuel Gompers into the inquiry.

The government's evidence, made public after his visit, consists of hundreds of letters and telegrams, which it is alleged pertain directly to the dynamiting and which refer to "jobs" that the unions wanted done.

The letters and telegrams form the bulk of the fourteen indictments for unexplained wealth in the conspiracy. The indictments charge that Herbert S. Hockin, Michael J. Young of Boston, John T. Butler and Frank C. Webb carried on a conspiracy through the mails.

The fifty remaining defendants are named as accessories. The indictment asserts that a regular system of pointing out nonunion work was employed and that the union heads, in addition to giving money toward carrying out explosions, actually helped with the work.

McNamara to "Help" Young.

A letter from J. J. McNamara to Edward Smythe, of Peoria, is purported by the indictment to refer to the explosion there that furnished the clew that finally enabled Detective Burns to trace and arrest the McNamaras. This letter says:

"As I understand, you can expect to see your friend Thursday evening on the Big Four train due in your city at 4:15 or at 8:50. I would suggest that you be at the depot to meet him. You need not necessarily get in touch with him, but as I understand it, he wants you to put him onto the ropes over there regarding a few things."

The famous Santa Claus letter written by Olaf A. Tveitmoe from San Francisco to McNamara during the December following the destruction of the Times building is included. The only letter from McNamara to M. J. Young that appears in the indictment was written in August, 1910. In it McNamara offers to help Young in "a quiet way."

The Opera House Plot.

President Ryan's letter regarding the Clinton bridge, which was being built by the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron Company, a concern that McNamara fought desperately, was written from San Francisco January 20, 1908.

It described what could be seen of the bridge while the train was passing there, though "it was getting dark."

Shortly afterward dynamite was exploded under the bridge piers.

Several letters from Webb are interesting because of their directness. He speaks frequently of "Mike," referring to Michael J. Young of Boston.

After writing McNamara that he ex-

GEN. LEONARD WOOD, AINSWORTH'S ONLY SUPERIOR IN ARMY

ARREST ORDER FOR AINSWORTH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Politics and legislation were cast into the background today as a result of the order of Secretary of War Stimson relieving Major-General Fred C. Ainsworth, Adjutant-General of the army, from duty, on charge of insubordination. The Ainsworth case was the chief topic of conversation. When the veteran is brought to trial by court martial it is expected that one of the biggest army upheavals in fifty years will develop.

General Ainsworth was practically under arrest today. While he was at liberty to go as he pleased, he was under orders from his superior not to leave Washington.

According to the military law the general must be tried before a board of his peers—equals in rank—and in this case it will be necessary to go outside the active list to find them.

General Ainsworth became a Major-General on April 23, 1904, and is next in rank to Major-General Wood, who was commissioned August 8, 1903.

The court may be made up of retired officers, such as General Nelson A. Miles, Lieutenant-General P. H. M. Young, Lieutenant-General Adna R. Chaffee and others.

The charges against Ainsworth are the outcome of a long smoldering ill feeling between the Adjutant-General and his former fellow army doctor, General Leonard Wood, chief of staff. Stimson and Wood, both Republicans, are violently arrayed against the Hay bill for the reorganization of the army. Ainsworth, a Democrat, has been doing his utmost to secure its passage.

The Stimson letter proposes to split the army wide open, and precipitate a fight up of partisans that will require a strong administration hand to put down.

The Secretary of War declares the particular instance over which the break came was but the culmination of a series of outbreaks, evidencing "intolerance of subordination" and "readiness to impugn either the motives or intelligence" on the part of the Adjutant-General. He quotes from General Ainsworth's language more scathingly invective allegations an army officer ever used to a superior.

Mr. Stimson and Mayor-General George W. Gillespie, retired, are today discussing plans for the court-martial. General Gillespie acted on the court-martial that convicted Commissary General Egan in the famous "Embalmed Beef" case, in Mc-Kinley's administration. Egan was charged with giving General Miles the lie direct.

The only officers superior in rank to Ainsworth are Generals Miles, Bates, Young and McArthur, all retired. If a sufficient number of the superiors will consent to serve he will have to be tried by the highest officers available for the court.

ARGUMENTS IN UNITED SHOE HEARING END

Arguments on the demurrer of the United Shoe Machinery Company against indictments found by the government, which have been going on before Judge Putnam in the United States District Court for several days, ended just before noon today.

Charles F. Choate for the defense made the final arguments on the demurrer, Judge Putnam asked Assistant United States Attorney-General Gregg if he desired to file replies to the observations of Messrs. Brown and Choate, of counsel for the defence, made yesterday and today. Mr. Gregg replied he did, and Judge Putnam gave him until next Wednesday. It is expected the court will hand down its decision some time next week.

Attorney Boyd B. Jones continued his argument this morning. He said:

"We have found that the intention of a corporation in and of itself is legal. Now comes the question, does this indictment show that it was the intention to use that combination for an illegal purpose, or to secure an illegal result?"

No Illegal Agreement.

"I have not seen anywhere any allegation of any illegal agreement. I have referred in my brief to the fact that where it is sought to show illegal purpose by voluntary actions, you have got to set forth some illegal agreement."

Mr. Jones asserted there was no averment, in accordance with the rules of criminal pleading, as to what the terms of the leases were.

"Not only is there the absence of any statement of the terms or illegal effect of the lease," he said, "but, in addition we have no illegal terms set forth."

He asserted the government should set forth the substance of the language of the leases and that there is no allegation in the indictment as to how the four concerns were forced to go out of business. In support of his contention in connection with the lease, Attorney Jones cited the case of the United States against the Pullman Palace Car Company.

Choate Makes Denial.

Attorney Choate, in making the closing argument, referred to indictment No. 113, in which, he said, the United States charged the defendants generally with control of the essential machinery in the four groups, and having that control, said to the shoe manufacturers, "You must have one of these machines, and if you take one you must take them all."

"Now, the indictment does not charge these facts," said Mr. Choate. "It is not a charge that excludes other shoe machinery manufacturers from being in the market to supply shoe manufacturers." He claimed that design and intent are not equivalent to combination and agreement, and that the government itself by setting forth the defendants are bound by any of the things the United States charges they combined and agreed to do.

"The United States does not charge that the United Shoe Machinery Company compelled shoe manufacturers to take all of their machines," said Mr. Choate, "the indictment sets forth they should take 'some or all of the machines.'"

In conclusion, Mr. Choate asked the court to consider, with reference to the leases, the case of Connolly vs. Union Sewer Pipe Company, 184 U. S., 540, which says that unless agreements of this kind, with reference to the sale or lease of the products of a corporation or combination, constitute a part of the original consideration, that is, incorporated into the original corporation, the two things are separate and individible, and neither gives any color whatever to the other."

He went on:

"And, finally, we do urge most strongly that the Valley case establishes the rule in this circuit, that under circumstances like those presented here, it is required of the United States to set out the leases, or extracts from them, which show with certainty and not by mere recital."

SUDDEN FATNESS IS CAUSE OF MAN'S END

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Feb. 16.—Frank Deakin, who lived at St. Vincent's Hospital here, was killed, the physicians say, by his sudden acquisition of excessive fat. A year ago Deakin, then 40 years of slight build, suddenly began to grow fat. When he was removed to the hospital last month he weighed almost four hundred pounds.

DELEGATION FOR FOSS IF HE WISHES, O'CONNELL SAYS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—"Foss is a potent factor in the presidential race and may have an instructed delegation from Massachusetts if he so desires," said former Representative Joseph F. O'Connell of Boston today, when he also declared that Massachusetts will be found in the Democratic column in November if a proper candidate is chosen.

SAYS PASTOR CHASED WIFE

Mrs. Ida Johnson, mother of Mrs. Ida J. Brown of Hyde Park, was the chief witness in the suit for divorce which Mrs. Brown has brought against her husband, the Rev. William A. Brown, formerly pastor of the presbyterian Church of Hyde Park.

On direct examination by the counsel for the plaintiff, Mrs. Johnson testified in numerous cases of alleged cruel and abusive treatment of the Rev. Mr. Brown toward his wife and three-year-old son.

When cross-examined by Attorney Edwin C. Jenney, counsel for the minister, Mrs. Johnson testified that she left the home of her daughter in Hyde Park because she was called away on business. The witness denied ever having pulled the hair of her son-in-law or of having slapped him after he had been cruel to his wife or at any other time, or saying that Rev. Mr. Brown would always run into his room and lock the door after these alleged attacks.

In answering the questions of Attorney Jenney, Mrs. Johnson said that the pastor had chased his wife about the house from 11 o'clock at night until 7 the next morning. She testified to having once blackened his wife about the eyes and to other blows and bruises received by her daughter while the Brown family were living in Butler, Pa.

Mrs. Johnson said she had paid all of the household expenses while she was living with her daughter and that the minister never gave his wife any money toward paying the bills, and that it was necessary for her to pay the doctor's bills and funeral expenses at the time the three-year-old son died.

ASKS PLAISTED TO HELP SEIZE SHILOH

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 16.—Governor Plaisted gave half an hour's interview to the Rev. Arthur Hersee of Vancouver, B. C., who has appointed himself chief to be the "Annointed man of God to take charge of Shiloh," as the successor to the Rev. Frank W. Sandford, the convicted leader of the Holy Ghost and Us Society. Hersee charged that Shiloh under the present system was a disgrace and a menace to the State, and asked Governor Plaisted to help him to get possession of the colony.

SIX-MONTHS' TERM FOR SELLING LIQUOR

PLYMOUTH, Feb. 16.—"If a poor widow comes before me for selling liquor to keep the wolf from the door I can feel sympathy for her, but for a college like you I have no pity. Three hundred dollars and six months in the House of Correction," was Judge Dubuc's decision today in the Superior Court when Henry Ledoux, charged with illegal sale of liquor, pleaded guilty. The court then ordered Attorney-Informer Tye court that the rules were purely formal; relatives went without the necessities of life, and then he jumped his bond.

G. G. A. METHODS ARE DENOUNCED BY LOMASNEY

Representative Martin M. Lomasney accused the Good Government Association of being full of politics, of not doing what it advertised and of not having proposed any of the "essentials" of the new city charter at a hearing before the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs today.

He said that the Good Government Association "was with the 1915 movement, which is with the corporations."

He declared that the people voted for the new charter because they had to, that three years of it has been enough and that decreased voting at city elections shows the voters disapprove the charter.

The hearing was on the bills of Mayor Fitzgerald and Representative Lomasney for an amendment to the new charter, increasing the present Boston City Council from nine to twenty-eight members. This would give one Councilman to a ward, with two for Wards 20 and 24.

City Vote Falls Off.

There was good attendance when the hearing opened and Representative Lomasney began speaking for the proposed amendments. He said in part:

"A small district is better to judge a man's character than a large one. Each section of the city should be represented at City Hall. The Good Government Association does not with this representation. They were with the 1915 movement, which is with the corporations. District representation prevails in national, State and many municipal governments. Why can't we have it here in Boston?

"The present charter has some essentials, but the Good Government Association did not propose them. It would not have advocated them, only they were necessary.

"The new charter was submitted only once in the people. It was committed unfairly. Its propositions were so tied up that the people had to vote for it. The people have had three years of the charter and that's enough.

"Since the new charter has been in vogue fifty per cent. of the registered voters of the city have not cast their ballots at municipal elections. The decrease shows that the charter has been disapproved by the people."

G. G. A. Inconsistent.

"The Good Government Association advocates that, when you once put in man in office and does well, keep him there. But it does not do it. The first year the new charter was in operation Mr. Ballantyne was elected chairman of the City Council. He performed his duties wis credit, but the next year they ousted Ballantyne and elected Collins, who, like his predecessor, made a very excellent chairman. This year they came along and elected Attridge, who will be succeeded by some one else next year.

"The Good Government is full of politics. It controls the press of the city. The press of the city has done much to purify New York as Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago and some of it has gone bankrupt in doing so. But it never tries to purify Boston."

YOUNG GIRL DYING, CHELSEA BOY HELD

O'Neill of Chelsea on a warrant charging him with a serious offence. Frances E. BRITISH COAL STRIKE TO AFFECT 900,000

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Feb. 16.—Active preparations are being made by the coal mining with tremendous strides. One of the most interesting departments in connection with the work is the attempt to save human proper co-operation with the house and with the assistance of the boards of health and other public departments having similar lines of work to perform.

MRS. SCHOFF, WHO THINKS RICHESON'S FATE IS JUSTIFIED

SAYS RICHESON DESERVES FATE

"The law is plain, as I understand it, and I believe this man should be treated the same as any layman. His deed was most outrageous. I cannot express my opinion in a manner which would be favorable to him," declared Mrs. Frederick Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mothers, discussing the Richeson case in connection with general reform in our prison and probation systems.

Mrs. Schoff is stopping at Hotel Seymour in Lynn. She is attending the second annual convention of the Massachusetts branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association which is now in session in the "Shoe City." She has been accompanied in Lynn by Mrs. David O. Mears of Albany, N. Y., who is spending the Winter in Brookline.

Mrs. Schoff, in speaking about general prison and probation systems and other methods used to stamp out crime in this country, said:

"One of the main purposes of the National Congress is to save the children from entering lives of crime. The association must give suitable guidance and inspiration to every child it comes in contact with. Another purpose is the perfecting and extension of the juvenile court and probation systems, under proper educational administration.

Prisons Are Overrun.

"Our prisons in this and every other State are overrun with types of men and women who, if taken in time, would make excellent citizens. The trouble seems to go back to their younger days. Some of them committed some slight grievance and were banished to jail.

"Once sent to prison it is hard to reform. Our reformatories to a great extent are colleges for young men to become hardened criminals. Many young men are sent away for the first time when they should be given another chance. This is where the probation and juvenile court systems should get in their work to good advantage.

Mrs. Schoff was asked what she thought of the Massachusetts probation and juvenile court systems. She said:

Massachusetts Slow in Work.

"Massachusetts was one of the last States to take up this juvenile probation system. This is a State that rests too much on her laurels. The probation system is getting a good trial here, but improvements are needed."

"Do you believe in capital punishment?" inquired the reporter.

"I cannot say that I do," declared Mrs. Schoff.

Mrs. Schoff declared that the work of the National Congress of Mothers is growthousands of thousands of babies' lives through and with the assistance of the boards of health delegates of the State.

ANOTHER STRIKE APPEAL

LAWRENCE, Feb. 16.—After many speeches of indignation this afternoon, the strike committee of the I. W. W. unanimously adopted a resolution severing all relations with the militia and city officers and decided to present their grievances to the world in the shape of a general proclamation.

The strikers decided to send no more committees to Colonel Sweetser and Mayor Scanlon and to include in the proclamation a description of all acts of violence that had occurred and an explanation of the cause of the strike and the principles for which the strikers are fighting.

The police used the names of Rose Hay and Mitchi Iuguerto in making their charges against the sisters, Cornelius Mahoney defended them and secured a continuance until Tuesday, the young women being released in $200 bail. When they pleaded "not guilty" their voices could be heard throughout the courtroom, so complete were they.

After this, Judge Mahoney delivered his warning. "I want to call the attention of the people and of the press the law to on intimidation," he said. "It is chapter 514, section 18 of the statutes of 1909. It reads: 'No person shall intimidate or no one shall prevent a person from entering his place of employment.' My attitude in these cases has been to prevent rather than to punish. I would far rather admonish and warn the public of Lawrence than to punish them.

"I wish to say now that in the future I am going to treat such offenders brought before me differently. Every citizen of Lawrence is equal before the law, and a man who works and who wishes to go to his place of employment has the same right as the man who does not, and that man who wishes to work shall not be intimidated, threatened or injured."

More Children Going.

The strike situation today, in brief, was this:

In spite of wholesale criticism, Miss Elizabeth Gurley Flynn intends to take a delegation of strikers' children to Philadelphia tomorrow. She says that between 100 and 200 will go.

William D. Haywood has made another urgent plea to the strikers to get as close to the firing line as possible and do picket duty.

The police have made no headway in the discovery of the mysterious man in the strike riots mentioned in the Ettor hearing and which they hope would clear up the shooting mystery.

Alderman C. F. Lynch, in his capacity of Director of Public Safety, made arrangements today to have 100 more local young men sworn in as special policemen for strike duty, in addition to the fifty extra specials on the Civil Service list already assembled for this work.

The fifty new men already detailed are to be on duty tonight. 15 Director Lynch can get the additional specials equipped in time they will be put on active duty possibly by tonight, or at least as many as can be prepared.

The Central Labor Union committee on the strike, representing the American Federation of Labor, met at C. L. U. headquarters in No. 182 Broadway this afternoon to report to the C. L. U. general committee. It was known that the strike committee had a report framed that the local mill agents were not empowered to settle matters, and that there is no prospect of a strike settlement till next week at least.

Strike Committee Meets.

The strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World met this morning at I. W. W. headquarters on Mason street before noon time.

Today the C. L. U. committee was informed that it would be next week before a definite answer could be returned to the committee from the employers' committee.

Louis Boches, a striker from the Arlington Mills, was asked by Attorney Mahoney if he had heard a discussion about firearms at one of the meetings of the strike committee, and Boches replied:

"One of the delegates said that he had heard that Marshal Sullivan had been

'OH, BEANS!' SAYS MAETERLINCK

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—"Oh, Beans!"

Not an expression of disgust. Not slang. Just a rapturous breath from the very soul of Madame Georgette Le Blanc Maeterlinck.

"Oh, Beans!" said the Belgian author's wife, just before she sailed. "Your American, she is charmante," she continued, attempting to use the language of which she knows so little. "And Boston is so nice. Every day I ate the beans. I like it much, and I am going to make M. Maeterlinck eat him.

As a matter of fact, perhaps what Madame Maeterlinck said was:

"Oh, Bean!"

At any rate, she liked beans, and on the occasion of her departure for Europe on La Provence, after an engagement at the Opera House in Boston, she admired other things also.

"It is wonderful, this fat," she declared, after her discourse on the Boston bean. "I wish I had him at home in Nice. Oh, the dear little gas stove and the dear little bathtub were too sweet for words! Yes, I must build one in Nice. Monsieur Maeterlinck would just love him.

CREW DEMANDS A SQUARE DEAL

Gloucester, Mass., Feb. 14, 1912.

To Editor Boston AMERICAN,
Boston, Mass.:

Dear Sir:

We herewith submit to you this article which no doubt will be of interest to many of the readers of the Boston AMERICAN.

All our officers with one exception having gone ashore to attend a banquet held at Gloucester, Mass., given by the Master Mariners' Association, were welcomed as honored guests and were given much praise and made to feel that they were heroes of the day, on account of our recent cruise in Newfoundland waters, to release thirty American fishing vessels imprisoned in the ice at Bonne Bay and Bay of Islands. The seamen who worked the vessel and stood lookout watches in the bitter cold and weather which prevailed during the cruise, for two and four hours at a time, and the firemen who worked in the heat and coal dust of the suffocating firerooms while the vessel was bucking ice, were fed on the bountiful repasts of salt horse, sea stew and hash.

In the three months of cruising ashore the crew are very fortunate in getting shore leave once in 10 days, as we are seldom in port, but we have been in this port for two consecutive days and repeated applications for liberty were refused in a surly manner.

The people of Gloucester treat a blue jacket in such a commendable manner that we enjoy a liberty in that city, and although we do not wish to be banqueted or made heroes of, in any way, we do think it a downright shame that we are refused shore leave to get a square feed in some of the homelike restaurants of which Gloucester is famous, after a ten-day diet of salt horse and regulation stew.

Thanking you for making this publication, I remain very truly yours.

THE CREW.

YOUNG WOMAN BADLY INJURED COASTING

Miss May McIntyre, twenty-four years old, of Waltham, was removed to the Waltham Hospital as the result of injuries sustained last night when on a coasting party. The sled crashed into a telegraph pole and she was badly cut about the head and knee. A party of six were coasting down Plympton street from Prospect Hill when the accident occurred. The others received slight bruises and cuts.

McIntyre's condition was not thought serious at first, but she suffered so terribly during the night that she was removed to the hospital this morning. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Doering, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sanger, Louis Fisher and Miss McIntyre.

POLICE HUNTING AUTO BANDITS

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Detectives are searching New York today for the boldest band of automobile thieves that has worked in any city in the country, spurred by the hold-up of two bank messengers by three men who escaped in an automobile with $25,000 loot.

A man known to the police as Charlie Ross was arrested today. Gino Martine, chauffeur of the automobile in which the bank messengers were riding when the band leaped in and beat them, also was arrested. No charge was made against him, but the police are eager to learn all he knows.

The list of automobile robberies includes five shootings, the killing of two men, and several stabbings.

WRECK VICTIMS WILL RECOVER

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Feb. 16.—All of the passengers and trainmen who were seriously hurt in the Pennsylvania Limited wreck at Warrior's Ridge, yesterday, when three were killed, are under medical care at the J. CUTTERS FREE SHIPS FROM ICE

The revenue cutter Gresham arrived in the harbor today, after having rescued, with the aid of the Acushnet, a number of schooners caught in the ice in Nantucket Sound and near Chatham.

The Gresham performed its last mission when Captain Winram succeeded in freeing the schooner James Williams, from Pictou, N. S., from the ice about Handkerchief Shoals Nightship. The schooner was helpless in the ice, according to a wireless from Captain Winram, received by the way of the Charlestown Navy Yard wireless station, with her anchors fouled. The men of the Gresham worked on the schooner, finally clearing her and towing her into Vineyard Haven.

The schooner Jane Palmer was towed to the westward by the cutter Acushnet, after she also had been freed from the ice of the sound.

MISS NORTHEND SEEKS DAMAGES

Miss Mary H. Northend of Salem, a writer and photographer of middle life, famous for her photographic sketches and literary and historical articles in newspapers and magazines, has filed a suit for $10,000 at Salem against George F. Newcomb and John D. H. Gauss of that city, alleging that they have defamed her through publishing a political satire in which one of the characters is a "Miss Eastend."

Miss Northend maintains that the character "Miss Eastend" is intended to libel her.

She says that she is thus held up to ridicule, shame and contempt, also that she, through this character, is charged with grave impropriety and with being unduly intimate with a married man referred to in said article.

Miss Northend declares that the defendants published a pamphlet entitled "Ye Board Primer" and that this included in article named "A Mild-Winter's Dream." In her declarations she quotes the following dramatis personae as applied to the article:

SULTAN NO. 1—Mayor John F. Hurley.
SULTAN NO. 2—Mayor Arthur Howard.
MISS EASTEND—Miss Mary H. Northend.

Her photographic and literary work pays her so well, Miss Northend says, that during the year 1911 she received $7,021.48 for her contributions.

Historians who are acquainted with Miss Northend and her range of contributions know that she is considered quite interested in her work. She has made a study for years by her camera and pen. Her skill with the latter has given her national fame, especially in the magazine field. She has furnished certain periodicals with thousands of illustrations of types of New England homes, landscapes and horticultural subjects. In connection with her professional work, Miss Northend has traveled extensively. She has a staff of assistants and is well known to hotel and club women.

As indicated by the dramatis personae given by Miss Northend, the satire is supposed to be of the political nature. Ex-Mayors John F. Hurley and Arthur P. Howard of Salem are two of the leading citizens of the White City. They were candidates for election in the last Mayoralty campaign.

The suit filed by Miss Northend was the talk of Salem to-day. Copies of the satire were eagerly sought.

In her declaration Miss Northern states that she is unmarried, lives in Salem, and is dependent upon her photographic and literary work for her living. In that connection she says her income for 1911 and adds that she has suffered great loss, also injury to her reputation through the alleged libel.

The date of the publication of the article which Miss Northend complains is given as December 29, 1911. She says that "Ye Board Primer" contained a false and scurrilous libel on her, entitled, "A Mild-Winter's Dream," that it was published with malice and without good faith.

ARRAIGN WOMAN IN MALE DRESS

Mrs. Ethel Kimball, alias Ethel Wilson, of No. 68 Orchard street, Malden, described by the police as the woman who adopted the Dr. Mary Walker dress and appeared recently in the Malden schools in man's attire, was arraigned in the Malden District Court today before Judge Bruce on a charge of forging a $15 check.

When arrested at her home, the woman had on the kind of a suit that isn't usually resorted to by the gentle sex. In court today she still wore the trousers, but they were concealed beneath an overskirt loaned by a friend. The police charged her with numerous escapades in man's clothing in Greater Boston and alleged that she had been twice imprisoned in the past.

Mrs. Kimball drew a check on the Brighton National Bank, the police said, and made it payable to John T. McLaughlin, a Malden expressman. The latter testified he found it was worthless and pursued the woman, from whom he secured $10.

"The woman told me she couldn't refund the other five as she had spent it," explained McLaughlin.

Judge Bruce then ordered the woman held in $200 for a hearing Tuesday next, in default of bail she was committed to jail.

The case attracted a great deal of interest today, not so much on account of the forgery charge as on the statement made by the police that Mrs. Kimball had fooled scores of school teachers and hundreds of pupils by saying she was "Professor Faulkner, a music teacher of Norfolk, Va."

The woman appeared in the Maplewood, Linden and Ayers schools, jauntily swinging a cane and smoking a large calabash pipe, with a natty felt hat shoved over one side of her closely-cropped hair.

MAY DUMP GARBAGE FOR STARVING DUCKS

James E. Coyle, secretary-treasurer of the United Improvement Council of Dorchester, suggests that a load of garbage be dumped in Boston lower harbor for the ducks which are reported to be starving there. Mr. Coyle recommends that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals ask the Mayor to have this done, as the locality is outside the city jurisdiction. Mr. Coyle suggests that permission of the State or government be secured, in order that food may be provided for the wild birds at this time.

Weak Backs Made Strong

Backache in most cases is kidney ache and usually accompanied by irregularities of the urine. To remove the pain and weakness, you must cure the kidneys. Do so with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. George I. Mott, 99 North St., Quincy, Mass., says: "I was troubled a great deal by headaches and dizzy spells and frequently had to grasp something to keep from falling. My sight was affected and spots often appeared before me. My back also caused me great suffering. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use, and after I had taken the contents of five boxes was permanently cured."

HOW TO SUCCEED

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it, free of cost, before purchasing.

It is a physician's prescription.

They have on file thousands of letters received from former sufferers who are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. They will gladly forward you a sample bottle by mail, absolutely free.

NEW MOTHER, 19, FOR ALSOP BOYS

"Hal" and "Sed" Alsop, Harvard students, returned to Cambridge today after a flying trip to New York to attend the marriage of their father, Edward B. Alsop, who is eighty years old, to his nineteen-year-old bride.

On Mt. Auburn street, they met friends who knew the purpose of their New York trip.

"How did you like the new mother, Hal?" some one asked.

"Say fellows, she's a pip! A regular peacherino! If pop doesn't keep his eyes open, mama and I will elope," was the reply.

The new Mrs. Alsop is only nineteen years old, younger than either of her sons. Alsop is a wealthy retired steel merchant. He and Miss Hill, who lives at Washington, Ga., were married in Trinity Church by the Rev. Dr. Sutton.

Sons at Wedding Dinner.

Following a wedding dinner at a downtown restaurant, at which the bridegroom's two sons, from Harvard, and his nephew, Reese Alsop, of Brooklyn, were guests, the bride returned to her mother, Mrs. John A. Hill, at the Hotel Lathom, and the bridegroom adjourned to the Waldorf Astoria, where he continued the wedding festivities, assisted by his sons and a host of friends and others, who were unable to resist the contagion of the high spirits of the happy bridegroom.

Mr. Alsop said:

"They claim I am eighty. Don't believe it. I am only forty, for a man is only as old as he feels. Have a cigar, gentlemen. We are going to make the grandest little team that ever came down the matrimonial housestretch. Some more wine, waiter, please. My boys agree with me that this is a momentous occasion for their dad."

"She's a peacherino," interjected Ned and added:

"If you don't look out, Pop, mama and I will elope."

"I can Still Lick You."

"I don't think there is any danger of that," retorted the old gentleman, laughing. "I am still able to lick you, eh, what?"

Mrs. Alsop strolled into the Hotel Lathom. She was escorted by a young woman friend.

"I'm married, mama," remarked the bride to her anxious and now thoroughly astonished parent.

"To whom?" asked her mother.

"To Mr. Alsop," said the bride. "I call him the ragtime kid. Some people claim that ragtime is national paresis, but I think it is paradise. I know it sounds slangy, but my husband is the liveliest man I have run against in New York. I intend to join him tomorrow at the Waldorf and we will probably leave in a few days for a trip through the South."

Mr. Alsop has a handsome home in Washington, where he lives most of the time, and a large estate on the shores of Lake Tuxaway, N. C. He is a member of the Duquesne club of Pittsburg, the Allegheny Country Club of Sewickley, and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. His brother is the Rev. Dr. Reese F. Alsop of Brooklyn.

Children to Give Clever Dances at Mechanics Building Festival on Washington's Birthday

Clarice Weiscopf and Josephine W. Hill are among the young dancers who will appear in fancy costumes at the annual fete given at Mechanics Building next Thursday.

2,000 CHILDREN TO GIVE DANCE

More than two thousand children will take part in the fancy dances and marches in Mechanics Building at the sixty-second annual Washington's birthday festival to be given by the Barnard Memorial next Thursday. Preparations have been made for a elaborate series of dances than have been held heretofore. Rehearsals under the direction of Mrs. Lilla V. Wyman have been carried on for three months. The competition is very keen among the many children who enjoy the regular Saturday afternoon dances held at the Barnard Memorial for the honor of taking part in the various special dances which are given each year on the 22d of February.

The program will consist of a Washington Flag March, in which 2,500 children will take part, followed by a series of five costume dances. The first dance will be "Children's Adventure with Snow Fairies." Fifteen girls and six boys will give this dance for which an elaborate set of costumes and stage properties have been secured.

The second number will be the "Hunting Dance" in which thirteen girls dressed in English hunting costumes, will take part. The lively "Hungarian Dance" will follow with twelve girls and a soloist dressed in the native Hungarian costumes. The fifth and last number will be a dance in which twelve girls assisted by a soloist and wearing shamrock, rose and thistle costumes, will give the national dances of Ireland, England and Scotland.

All of the costumes and scenic properties have been especially designed for this occasion and will lend greatly to the beautiful and fantastic effect desired.

FINES CONTRACTOR ON LABOR CHARGE

Patrick J. Lyons of Codman street, Dorchester, who until January 31 had a contract for the collection of ashes in the North Dorchester section, was fined $100 in Dorchester Court today on four counts of violating the State labor law. State Police Officer Harry Atkinson charged that Lyons had his men start work at 6 o'clock; that they were kept on duty overtime, and that they had no Saturday half-holiday. He appealed from the fines and was released in $1,200 bail.

MAY DROP 'OBEY' FROM CEREMONY

PLAY SQUEEZED OUT OF HOMES

At the opening meeting of the Recreation Institute for the New England States, held by the Playground and Recreation Association of America, in Brookline, last night, Joseph Lee, president, made an address on "Boys and Girls at Play." He said:

"The chance for boys and girls to meet each other is one of the essential things of life that has been squeezed out of the home by the modern attempt of everybody to live within the same square mile.

"Industry was long ago squeezed out, to the benefit both of the industry and of the home. Play has unfortunately been largely banished from the home for lack of room. Even domestic training now has to be supplied by the schools because mother cooks on a gas burner and has not room to show her daughter how.

"Formerly boys and girls met each other as parties in their parents' houses, at dances in the barn, and I suppose the village green was once a reality, though it must have been a cramp place for dancing.

"Now you see them every evening walking by the hour up and down the streets, the girls largely in twos, passing various reviewing stands where the boys hang about. Or they go to the picture shows, largely as a place to sit down, to dance halls and to the cheap theatres.

"The problem is to find a place where boys and girls can meet under rational conditions. The school buildings seem to have the space, especially in the school halls, and I believe that a great development in the future is going to be the opening of all school buildings for this and other social purposes.

"It must be remembered, however, that the meeting of boys and girls naturally belongs to the home to start with, and should still preserve connection with it, that the opportunities afforded in the schools or elsewhere should be as much as the girl's mother will approve, and should have her actual approval and her knowledge of the conditions provided, and generally of what goes on. Also something must be done to see that the girl gets home safe.

"People do not go wrong because they want to, but because circumstances were against them; and circumstances in the modern city, which has squeezed its children out on to the street and into the dance hall and left them to go home any way they can in the small hours of the morning, are against our young people at the present time."

FRATERNITY MEN TO DANCE TONIGHT

Today is the second day of the twenty-ninth annual convention of the Phi Delta Chi Fraternity at the Hotel Brunswick. The members of the fraternity are drawn from the pharmaceutical and chemical departments of the institutions at which they are located. Ten institutions are represented at the convention. Tonight the delegates will hold the annual ball in Jubilee Hall, Grove Hall. The convention will conclude with a banquet tomorrow night.

INJURIES SUFFERED IN FALL KILL FLYER

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—Herr Schmidt, a German aviator, died to-day from injuries sustained in a 100-foot fall from his biplane when the rudder broke.

ACCIDENT-PROOF GLOBE TROTTER

Little Paul Rambaud, Madame Gerville-Reache's three-year-old son, sadly beats any other ten kids of his age when it comes to the number of miles traveled and the number of countries visited.

He has motored a good deal in this country, for both Mme. Gerville-Reache and her husband, Dr. Rambaud, are fearless speeders. There isn't a farmyard in New York State or New England but mourn some worthy though careless fowl that failed to dodge in time their lightning sixty horsepower.

Little Rambaud may safely consider himself accident-proof, for he has already survived three smash-ups; the first time a farm wagon was splintered; the second time a telegraph pole put the sixty horsepower out of commission; the third time, last Summer, the whole family had to board for a month at the Poughkeepsie Hospital. Little Paul, however, managed to escape every time without even so much as a scratch. He has motored also all over Europe, but no mishap ever marred his family's enjoyment of fast rides on the continent.

For two years, he has accompanied his mother in all her travels. Once, only once, the great contralto left her baby at home. He had a cold, or at least to an adoring mother he looked as though he might have a cold and the nursery was thought to be a safer place for him than a Pullman drawing room.

For twenty-four hours, however, the wires were kept at white heat between —— city and New York carrying queries such as "Are his dear little feet cold?" and answers in this style: "He only blew his dear little nose twice this morning."

The next day musical critics of the city mentioned that the star had appeared preoccupied during the concert and had sung a little carelessly.

That settled it. Since then, young Paul has kept within hailing distance from every concert room or opera house where mama has been singing, be it in Prince or in Worcester, in St. Louis or in Winnipeg.

JUDGE WARNS MILL STRIKERS

granting permits to seals to carry firearms. At this announcement a motion was made to have a committee see Sullivan and ask him to revoke these licenses.

No Violence Advised.

"One of the members replied that if the seals could get permits it would be a good thing if all of the strikers went in a body and applied for a permit to carry guns."

This testimony of Boches was given to refute that of Joseph Tore, a reporter, who testified that a remark had been made by somebody at the meeting that the strikers would keep the gun shops busy selling guns.

Boches' testimony was corroborated by four other witnesses.

Thomas Marcuil was examined by Attorney Mahoney, who asked him what Giovannitti said at the meeting on the Common on January 29, and Marcuil testified:

Mr. Giovannitti spoke in Italian, and said, "People, go home and take a rest. Get up early and go to the people and convince them that you are still out of work. Do not go at them like wild animals."

Q—Did Giovannitti say anything about prowling around in the night after the heads of the seals? A—No, sir, he did not.

Q—Did he say anything about looking for blood? A—No, sir.

Workers Disappointed.

Considerable disappointment is expressed among the skilled workers, whose committees, under the auspices of the Central Labor Union, presented demands to the agents over the delay while the wage schedules are being considered by the owners.

It was understood that the agents had full power to refuse or grant the demands, on account of a telegram sent to the strikers by the legislative committee last week, in which it was stated that the corporations refused to take a hand in any arbitration, delegating any such action to their local representatives.

J. W. W. leaders refuse to state whether they had been corresponding secretly with the mill agents in regard to a settlement. A persistent report to that effect is current here and it is declared that overtures had been made to the strikers by mill men through a third person.

General Strike Hinted.

At the numerous meetings of I. W. W. strikers it was hinted that a general strike is pending, awaiting only word from Lawrence.

Morrison I. Swift of Boston has sent a letter to Mayor Scanlon, the State police and Commissioner of Public Safety Lynch, asking the arrest of Colonel E. Leroy Sweetser, in command of the militia stationed here, on the charge of being an accessory to a murder, for the death of John Ramey, a Syrian, who was bayoneted by a soldier.

Mr. Swift declares that there is just as much justice in holding Colonel Sweetser on such a charge as there is in the arrest of Ettor and Giovannitti for the murder of Annie LoPizzi. He reports that all the militia commander be confined without bail until trial.

The strike committee has received 20,000 posters, the first of several hundred thousand, which will be sent all over the world, describing the Lawrence strike, and the reasons for it.

Another, showing a striker being arrested by two militiamen, has the inscription, "Arresting a striking father."

Ship Children Tomorrow.

Consignments of these posters will be sent to all the textile cities in Europe and America.

A contribution of $180 which Victor Berger, Socialist member of Congress from Milwaukee, collected from among his associates, was received by the strike committee.

William D. Haywood severely scored the Congressman because of the small amount, declaring that more money could be secured in a meeting of working men who received much less pay for their labors than the representative.

Romain Marcoux, a French Canadian operative, of No. 4 Chandler street, who received a Black Hand letter in a state of perpetual terror, and only the presence of a guard of militia about the house at night enables him to sleep peacefully.

The mills are beginning to hum with their old-time activity. The agents say they have all the men needed. The overseers of the Pacific, Kunhardt, Arlington, Wood and Champion mills might spot that they have all the operatives necessary.

They declare that their mills are now running to their capacity. So far as these mills are concerned the strike is completely broken.

The Everett, Atlantic and Pemberton mill agents have talked over the situation with the strikers, represented by committees of three.

The Arlington mill had a second conference with the strike committee, and at the same time heard John J. Cuningham, the international organizer of textile firemen, who have a grievance.

Several letters have been received from the mill agents by James R. Mensie of the U. T. W., among the last received are the following:

DR. LAURA HUGHES, NAMED AS SCHOOL DOCTOR BY BOARD

DR. LAURA A.C. HUGHES

Dr. Laura A. C. Hughes, with Dr. Elita Dadmun, has been named to the Board of School Physicians, following their fight for more women among the doctors who examine the school children.

WOMEN NAMED SCHOOL DOCTORS

Dr. Laura A. C. Hughes, of No. 98 Huntington avenue, and Dr. Elita J. Dadmun, of No. 295 Beacon street, today received congratulations on their appointment by the Board of Health as additional school physicians.

The names of the two women doctors chosen were picked from the civil service list. They are among those who have been urging that women should have a place among the school doctors.

Dr. Dadmun some time ago was appointed a provisional school physician because at that time the Civil Service Commissioners did not have a list from which candidates might be drawn. The commissioners have since given examinations and made up a list from which the names of Dr. Dadmun and others were drawn.

The other physicians appointed are: Dr. Bradford Kent, of No. 226 Dudley St.; Dr. Rose Hill, of No. 693 Washington street, Dorchester. They will each receive $200 a year.

$500 VERDICT FOR SOPRANO

Miss Mary E. Julianus of Cambridge, soprano soloist at the Richmond Baptist Church of Cambridge of which Clarence V. F. Richeson was formerly pastor, was awarded a verdict for $500 damages against Bower Bros., a firm of contractors, by a jury before Judge Hattigan in the second session of the Superior Civil Court at East Cambridge today. Miss Julianus claimed that on the evening of July 15, 1910 she fell into a trench on Linfield avenue, Dorchester, which had been dug by Bower Brothers and which she claimed was not properly lighted. The singer sued for $10,000, claiming that her voice had been affected by the fall.

BEATS RHEUMATISM, NOW AFTER RIVALS

MILLBURY, Feb. 16.—Charles A. Whitney, who has been tax collector for fourteen years, will be a candidate for reelection because he has found a cure for a bad attack of rheumatism from which he has been suffering a long time. A few days ago Mr. Whitney was undecided about running, but the cure freed his bones of pain and now he is in line for his fifteenth term. He has seldom met opposition, having received the Democratic and Republican nominations.

WALKED AS WELL AS THE DOCTOR

Cure of a Case of Rheumatism That Did Not Yield to Ordinary Remedies.

There are many remedies for rheumatism. Most of them are considered successful if they relieve the pain and stiffness. That means a temporary suppression of the symptoms while the disease remains in the blood to appear again on the next rainy day.

In rheumatism the blood becomes thin. Until it is made rich and red again the rheumatism will prevail. Strengthen the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and it will throw off the rheumatic poison and the disease is cured.

Mrs. C. G. Dean, of No. 916 Elm street, Quincy, Ill., says: "A few years ago I was greatly afflicted with rheumatism. The trouble came on in the fall. I consulted our family doctor and on my way home could hardly push one foot ahead of the other. The next morning I was worse and in great pain. All at once something seemed to give away in my back on the right side and I was bent nearly double. I could not straighten up and was suffering intense pain. For six weeks the doctor called nearly every day but did not cure me. I had spells of nervousness, which nearly drove me mad. If I would lie down on the bed, I could not get up unless lifted and placed on my feet. So for six weeks I sat all night long in my chair and during the day moved about as well as I could. I could hardly walk and when I did it was very slowly and if I took a quick step the pain would catch me and it seemed as though I would fall. I slept but little and could eat practically nothing. One day I told the doctor that he need not call on me any longer and then sent for a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and gave them a good trial. Some time later the doctor called and could not believe his eyes for I walked to the door as straight as he did and was well enough to do my housework. He said my cure was a wonderful thing. I have been in good health since."

A new edition of our booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes for $2.60, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

PEACE TO REIGN ON WATER FRONT

Complete industrial peace was again established along the water front at East Boston to-day as a result of positive orders issued by the Longshoremen's Trade Council last night forbidding the further continuance of the spasmodic strikes that have ensued since the longshoremen's big strike was called off three days ago.

This "no-strike" order was unanimously adopted at the council meeting. Its adoption followed the receipt of a protest from the steamship agents against the East Boston longshoremen walking out to compel the discharge of certain non-union tallymen. These walkouts, the men's council itself declared, are now held to be in violation of the terms of settlement when the big strike was called off.

Following the council meeting last night, it was announced that the trouble of the last two days had resulted from a misunderstanding by the rank and file among the longshoremen as to the conditions of their settlement. It was further stated that no additional trouble need be looked for now that the situation had been clearly explained to them. This includes the tallymen, as well as the longshoremen, the officers of the council say.

PROGRESSIVES HIT SCHEDULE K

At a meeting of the Militant Progressive Republican League at 684 Tremont street, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the Militant Progressive Republican league affirms its belief in protection to American industry, but we protest against a prohibitive tariff and schedules which contain concealed taxation which confer preferential tariff rates to special interests;

Resolved, That we uphold the efforts of Senators La Follette, Cummins, Bristow, Beveridge and other progressive Republican Senators and Representatives, who have endeavored to modernize the tariff, who have upheld the basic principles of the doctrine of protection, and who have battled for an equal opportunity to all before the law;

Resolved, That we condemn Schedule K as now adjusted as being unjust and oppressive; and, be it further

Resolved, That we appoint and delegate Andrew J. Solis of Boston to represent this league before the hearings of the Finance Committee of the United States Senate, when the woolen schedule shall be under consideration, to protest against any attempt to reenact Schedule K.

BRANDT TO TELL STORY TO JURY

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Poultice E. Brandt, the white slaver who is in the Tombs awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court on his motion for a writ of habeas corpus, is expected to be the principal witness to-day before the Grand Jury which is investigating the method by which he was sent to prison on a thirty-year sentence for a first offence of burglary.

There is a general impression that Brandt's application under the writ of habeas corpus will be sustained. Justice Gerard, it is understood, believes that in view of the legal mixup in the affair, together with the future investigation in prospect by Governor Dix's appointee, Judge Richard L. Hand, as special commissioner, the sooner he can lay down his decision the better it will be for all concerned.

This decision may be rendered by Saturday morning and there is a possibility that Justice Gerard may decide the matter this afternoon.

Howard A. Gass, counsel for Mortimer L. Schiff, who has been endeavoring to get himself before the Grand Jury to explain his part in securing evidence against Brandt, has withdrawn from through his counsel, and has given it out that he will "go over" Attorney Whitman's head in getting permission to appear before the Grand Jury.

Judge Rosalsky, who tried and sentenced Brandt five years ago, denies that he was present at the conference at the Criterion Club, where two members say they saw him with Schiff, Gass and Inspector McLaughlin just before Brandt received his remarkable sentence.

The former Inspector has not been permitted to go before the Grand Jury, but has been put over the league by District Attorney Whitman. McLaughlin had admitted that the report that he signed was not prepared by detective Woldgan, as shown in the records in the case.

Attorney-General Cunningham made the flat prediction today that Brandt would be a free man within a very few days.

One of the trails that District Attorney Whitman is following, was said today to lead to Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall. There has been a good deal of talk about politics in the affair and the presence of so many prominent Democratic lawyers gave color to these reports.

The District Attorney was asked if Mr. Murphy was mixed up in the case in any way. He asked 40 be excused from answering. Then he was asked if Mr. Murphy would be summoned before the Grand Jury, but he again declined to answer.

It was learned later that Mr. Murphy is very likely to be called before the Grand Jury and questioned.

That "a mysterious woman" in the case would be ascribed was the statement made by Mirabeau Towns of counsel for Brandt.

SOUTH BOSTON HEARS SEARS

Members of the South Boston Citizens' Improvement Association declared today that they heard the best lecture that "Dick" Sears has given yet, on account of the new views Sears showed of Cardinal O'Connell's departure to Rome, his return and of the cathedral ceremonies following his arrival home.

Mr. Sears, staff photographer for the AMERICAN, entertained the association members and guests in Gray's Hall on I street, South Boston, with his lecture on newspaper photography.

The pictures he showed of Cardinal O'Connell are the first he has introduced into his lecture. They showed His Eminence departing from Boston as an archbishop and returning as a cardinal. The views of the cathedral ceremonies showed the cardinal seated on his throne in the cathedral.

Mr. Sears' views also included court scenes, prominent men and women, the Cape Cod canal and aeroplane subjects.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the AMERICAN.

JOHN D. LOSES IN OIL CONTEST

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16.—John D. Rockefeller and the Standard Oil interests were foiled in an attempt to secure control of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company at the annual stockholders' meeting, and the case will be fought out in court Saturday on a mandamus proceeding brought by Rockefeller.

Although Standard Oil interests own 68 per cent. of the stock of the company, the Pierce interests refused to count the ballots of John D. Rockefeller, John D. Archbold and their associates, on the ground they were attempting to perpetuate the Standard Oil Trust under a new system, in contravention of the decree of the United States Supreme Court dissolving the Standard Oil Company and the decree of the Missouri Supreme Court ousting it from this State.

The Rockefeller-Standard Oil interests filed a mandamus suit to compel the tellers to count the Standard Oil ballots, but the tellers, appointed by Pierce, refused to accept them and declared the Pierce slate of directors elected.

There was a bitter fight over the elections, but Henry Clay Pierce and his associates won. The Waters-Pierce Company is a fine little affair that on a capital stock of $400,000 recently paid $240,000 dividend in a single year.

SAGE TEA, A SCALP TONIC, DARKENS THE HAIR, STOPS DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

There is nothing new about the idea of using Sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of a simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of Sage leaves, and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves; and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing Sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

This preparation gives youthful color and beauty to the hair, and is one of the best remedies you can use for dandruff, dry, feverish, itching scalp, and falling hair. Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist to-day, and you will be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

Yes—New Spring Shirts For Men, at 90c

Of Course, Other Stores Will Sell Them at $1.50; So Would We, If We Had Bought Them Regularly.

If a manufacturer, after filling his spring orders, found that he had a limited number of shirts left, and wanted to sell them at a special price, it would be only natural for him to turn to the store that gives him the most business.

That is just what happened in this instance. One of Philadelphia's best-known shirt manufacturers had just 649 shirts—shirts that were made up of new spring materials—sold them to us at a special price, in recognition of our large outlet. This again brings forcefully to the men of Boston that THE HENRY SIEGEL CO. Store is the Men's Store of New England. Remember, just 649 shirts.

All desirable colorings—though neat black and colored stripes predominate—also some medium dark effects. Materials are fine count percales and self-striped and figured madras. M. J. YOUNG IS ACCUSED OF OPERA HOUSE PLOT

pected to hear from "Mike" at any time that everything was all right, he adds:

"The job is the new opera house on Huntington avenue, opposite the American League ball park. The derricks are on the ground floor, fire in all. When I left there was no extra guard on the job. Don't know how busy they have been since.

"The derricks are all Wood-Crane patent. Treat this will do until you get my final."

At Saratoga, N. Y., today, Deputy United States Marshal Belden arrested William K. Benson, president of the Detroit Federation of Labor, for complicity in the dynamite plot. Benson has been living on a farm in the town of Providence, Saratoga County.

YOUNG ACCUSED OF OPERA HOUSE EXPLOSION PLOT

Milnel J. Young of South Boston, vice-president of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, is definitely accused of having suggested, engineered and financed the dynamiting of the Boston Opera House, in a statement given out at Indianapolis, by United States District Attorney Miller, in which he outlines in full the government's charges against the men arrested on bomb indictments.

District Attorney Miller has in his possession, he stated, a letter from Frank C. Webb of New York, in which appears the statement:

"Mike (meaning Michael J. Young), wants to see your friend (meaning McManigal), that was in the East before. Can you get him to come here to do a job for me. Mike will furnish finances."

This passage, District Attorney Miller declares, referred to the Opera House "job."

Details of Charges Told.

Sensational and specific charges that the dynamiting went on with the full knowledge of members of the Executive Board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, including President Frank M. Ryan, and that the whole conspiracy was carefully and systematically carried out for years, with Ortie McManigal as the spark who was shifted about the country to ignite here and there fuses that led to dynamite bombs, are included in District Attorney Miller's statement.

The indictment covers "unconsummated acts." It is the basis of the prosecution. The charges are based on letters, telegrams and telegrams from the Iron Workers' national headquarters. A system is outlined by which agents all over the country, it is charged, were abettors of the conspiracy and assisted in pointing out doomed buildings and in causing the explosions. Money, it is charged, was regularly raised for purposes connected with the dynamiting.

Charge Ryan "Looked Up" Jobs.

The principal charges are:

That Ryan wrote from San Francisco in January, 1906, to J. J. McNamara in Indianapolis that he had looked over a job in Clinton, Iowa, and that he described a new bridge there that was subsequently blown up.

That Edward Clark, at Cincinnati, in February, 1906, wrote to McNamara saying: "Mike would like a foolish thing for me to buy explosives here where I am well known. I have stood up the whole job here and know that it can be done. If this sounds good to you let me hear right away."

That Webb wrote to McNamara from New York in 1909, telling him about jobs in Boston which were to be blown up, and of his having talked to Michael J. Young about these jobs, saying:

"Mike wants to see your friend (meaning McManigal) that was in the East once before. Can you get him to come here to do a job for me? Mike will furnish finances."

That McNamara wrote to Webb in answer that the Boston and New York jobs were being considered.

That Webb again wrote to McNamara, describing the new opera house in Boston and telling him where derricks could be blown up and when the guards were on and off duty.

That in 1909 McNamara wrote letters to powder companies negotiating for explosives, the negotiations being similar to those which resulted in the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building.

That McNamara wrote to F. J. Morris, St. Louis, in March, 1910, about jobs that were eventually blown up there.

That Charles Boehn, at Minneapolis, in April, 1910, wrote to McNamara that he had taken photographs of non-union jobs in course of construction, and would send them to him.

That Ryan, in New York, in April, 1910, wrote to McNamara as follows:

"In regard to the McClintic-Marshall jobs, let Legleitner attend to the jobs at Buffalo and Rochester. Hockin arranged for the Cleveland and Detroit and Cincinnati jobs. Morris can attend to Mount Vernon. Webb is now at South Bethlehem. Will also send him to Worcester, Mass., Davenport, Ia., Peoria can be handled by Hockin, Chicago is at work on the jobs there. Let Cooley work on a bunch at Chalmette. I will take up the job at Jersey City with someone in forty-five. This should be started at once."

That in response McNamara wrote to Ryan two days later:

"I am writing to Legleitner, Butler and Hockin, about the work of the McClintic-Marshall Company. I have already written Cooley about the work of the above-named concern at Chalmette."

Letter of Frank Ryan.

That Ryan wrote from New York in April, 1910, in regard to dynamiting for benefit of a local union at Peoria, Ill., as follows:

"In regard to the Peoria request I am of the same opinion as yourself. What I spent there should be through Hockin. I don't mind expending a reasonable amount in view of all the circumstances."

That F. K. Painter wrote to McNamara from Omaha in May, 1910, in regard to a job of the Wisconsin Bridge Company, which was damaged by an explosion as follows:

"They have no police protection within ten blocks of the job. This is a power house for the street car company. Hope if there is any way you could go to help to straighten up the job you will do it, as this is one of the second big non-union job in this city."

That McNamara replied to Painter he would "try to help him out."

That McNamara wrote to Hockin at Toledo, O., in June, 1910, in relation to the expense account of "Bryce" (J. B. McNamara) that he had forwarded Hockin's report to President Ryan for his information.

That McNamara wrote to Edward Smythe at Peoria, Ill., in August, 1910, in preparation for McManigal's visit as follows:

"You can expect to see your friend Thursday evening on the Big Four train. I would suggest you be at the depot to meet him; you need not necessarily get in touch with him, but he wants you to put him on to the ropes."

That Murray L. Pennell wrote to McNamara from Springfield, Ill., in October, 1910, as follows:

"Say, Mac, there has just arrived five carloads of steel and one hoisting engine for the Interurban job of McClintic-Marshall and I want to know what we are going to do. Please see to this at once."

That McNamara replied: "Rest assured, I will be on the job."

That McNamara in March, 1911, wrote to Pennell at Springfield: "I am surprised at your letters. That is all I care to say through the mails, for the Lord only knows who reads all the letters that come into this office as well as those that leave it."

ROB HENROOST AT YOUR PERIL

Henroost robbery is on the way to become a State prison offence. Prodded by "Pop" Gifford, the House has voted, 101 to 23, for "Pop's" bill that a person who robs a henroost shall be imprisoned for a term of from one to five years.

Whether the high price of eggs influenced the House members is not stated. But the knowledge that eggs are selling for forty-five cents a dozen makes the legislators realize that a man's hens are his real treasure, more valuable than gold, yes, than much fine gold. In other words, he who steals your purse steals trash, but he who steals your hens goes to prison, and "good enough for the thief!" says "Pop" Gifford.

"Pop" Gifford is more formally known as William H. Gifford, 2d, of Westport, Democratic representative from the Ninth Bristol District. For three years, or ever since some sneaking thieves robbed the roost of sixty hand-raised pullets, "Pop" has been trying to get an adequate law that law spread upon the statutes.

The Committee on Legal Affairs reported that his prison term bill ought not to pass. "Pop" took off his oatmeal coat and jumped into the fray. He told the members how he had suffered from hen thieves. He told them that "Jim Swift, the honorable attorney-general, was interested in his bill.

"It's not only my hen bill but Jim Swift's bill," said "Pop." "I saw him on Swift again this morning and he said 'Bill, I hear they have a hen-stealing bill,' and I said, 'General, you need have no worry. That House will not kill any thing until it knows all the facts.'"

Then "Pop" called for a real hen-thief law, one that you impose prison punishment instead of a fine, one that would check the hen-thief in his dastardly career.

Many legislators keep hens, or try to keep 'em. "Pop" was quite a sympathetic audience. The House voted to substitute "Pop's" prison bill for the adverse report of the Committee on Legal Affairs. The committee sought a roll-call but couldn't get a showing.

With victory gleaming from each eye "Pop" hurried to a telephone to announce to the Attorney-General the passage of the most important piece of legislation since the bar-and-bottle bill.

RICHARDSON HAS 32D BIRTHDAY IN JAIL

Clarence V. T. Richeson's thirty-second birthday passed in his cell at the Charles Street Jail with no greetings or presents to the man awaiting execution for killing Avis Linnell. It became known today that Richeson is receiving no mail from his relatives or friends. Richeson has not been out in the fresh air since his three-quarters of an hour Sunday and probably will not be taken out again until next Sunday.

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach! Modern science has proved that digestion requires pepsin, ultrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your stomach fails to do it, proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion, and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They strengthen the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

Chemical Laboratory. Telegraphic address, "Diffinds." London. Telephone No. 11029 Central. 20 Cullum St., Fenchurch St., E. C.

London, 9th Aug., 1905.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., 86 Clerkenwell Road, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot detect any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Known are the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably suitable for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed)
John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, waterbrash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper digestion and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the active principle in these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty-cent box, or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Tomorrow Is Candy Day

ON every counter of our stores tomorrow you will find pound boxes of delicious Riker's Special Chocolates. Last year we sold in our various stores over 425,000 pounds of this candy. Consider that this represents a business of over $100,000, that the total output of many candy factories does not exceed this volume, and that it is sold on one day of each week, Saturday only.

We mention these facts not as a boast, but merely in an attempt to impress upon you the fact that this is an exceptional candy, and that the price is made possible only because of this enormous output. Our margin of profit hardly covers our cost of doing business, but we can conceive no better advertising than to have "a candy day," and have thousands come to our stores for it.

There are over 30 different kinds of chocolates in the box, made from pure sugar, excellent flavorings, and the coating is made from a superior blend of chocolate. The cream centres are deliciously satisfying. Made in clean, well lighted, modern workrooms, which, for sanitary conditions, cannot be excelled. Through the entire process of manufacture, except in the packing into the box, scarcely a human hand touches the candy. It is all done by modern machinery. In short, it is not a 29c candy, but a 40c candy, which we sell on Saturday Only for 29c

FOYE ON STAND IN BRIBE CASE

TAUNTON, Feb. 16.—The case of John S. Murphy of New Bedford, who was convicted in the district court of having threatened and bought the vote of Patrick H. Foye at the last State election, was continued before Judge Lloyd Watte in the Superior Criminal Court this morning.

The first witness called was Patrick H. Foye, who was examined by Attorney Joseph Walsh for the defence. Foye testified that he slept at his aunt's house in New Bedford the night preceding election, and that the testimony he gave in the lower court to the effect that he had slept at the city mission was untrue.

William O'Brien of New Bedford, the next witness, testified that he had talked with Murphy at the Republican headquarters in the north end of New Bedford and that subsequently he had made an affidavit relative to the alleged vote buying, but that he had not talked with the defendant subsequent to the making of the affidavit.

Frederick P. Flynn, a detective of the State police, testified that he went to New Bedford during last November to investigate the alleged vote-buying campaign with State Officer Joseph V. Daly. He said that he and Daly called at Murphy's house, and that the man who answered their ring told them that Murphy was not at home. Half an hour later, the witness said, he saw the same man that answered the bell on the street and that the man identified that he was John E. Murphy.

Murphy said he fooled them because on the day before two Boston newspaper men had called at his house and represented themselves to be officers of the State police investigating the alleged corrupt political practices. Murphy then told him that he had been receiving $2 a day for distributing campaign circulars and also for looking after the Republican headquarters in Ward 1.

ROOSEVELT ON LABOR ISSUES

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt indorses President Taft's plea for the appointment of a commission to investigate industrial conditions in this country in an editorial headed "A Phase of Industrial Justice," in the current number of the Outlook.

"We hear much of the conflict between labor and capital," says Colonel Roosevelt, "and often it seems to be assumed that this conflict is inevitable and that capitalists and wage-earners must be considered primarily as belonging to different classes, each individual being judged solely by the standard of his own class.

"This is a thoroughly false and unhealthy view. From the standpoint of the country, from the standpoint of good citizenship, the difference between employers and employe are of mighty small consequence compared with the need that each shall show that he possesses the great fundamental virtues.

"These are some of the striking ideas of Miss Carolyn Putnam Webber of Bedford, who addresses today the convention of the Massachusetts branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association at Classical High School Hall, Lynn.

Miss Webber has made considerable study of the problem of economic nutrition which concerns the selection of food, and the relationship between the amount of nutriment in food and its cost.

"The problem of economic nutrition is the most important that confronts the modern housekeeper," says Miss Webber. "And its proper solution requires careful thought and study by the mother of a family whose income is limited.

Demands Careful Thought.

"Every homemaker and housewife must realize that this is a matter that is worthy of her absorbing attention and her most serious study; and the results obtained, whether good or evil, depend on the amount of thought and care expended on the subject. It is not a bit or miss proposition, to be dismissed with but very little thought.

"Nutrition is the process by which our bodies absorb their food and build the same into living tissues. Economic nutrition is this process, characterized by freedom from waste. In other words, it is the selection of foods which contain the largest possible amount of nutrition to the dollar.

"It must be remembered that true economy does not consist of going without, but in making the most of what we have. That is, by careful study and thought selecting the foods that contain the most nutriment, and yet are not expensive.

The Way to Economize.

"In the grocery store and in the market there are many such foods—wholesome, digestible, nutritious, yet cheap—which may be prepared in a variety of toothsome ways. And it is these foods that the careful housewife of limited means should select.

"In this connection it must be borne in mind that economy does not mean the decrease of quality. Everything that is eaten should be of the best. The quality must, above all, be maintained.

"Another thing that the housewife must remember is that food is the last place to economize. Economy should be practiced first in clothing, shelter and other expenses. In food, economy should be practiced rather by selection than by elimination.

"Another thing that should be considered in connection with this subject by the housewife is the composition of the body and the composition of the food products. She should exercise care in selecting the food, so that the elements in the food products and the body will correspond.

"Proteids are needed for growth and repair of the body, carbohydrates, or sugars and starches, to furnish heat and energy for muscular work, water for dissolving and blending the foods that assimilation may take place, and fats for heat again."

Wisdom in Selecting Food Is True Economy, Says Miss Webber

Domestic Science Expert Urges People to Make Most of What They Have.

Economy in food should be practiced by selection, not elimination.

True economy does not consist of going without, but in making the most of what we have.

The happiness and health of homes depend more on brains than on money.

A well nourished body is one's best asset.

Simple foods but good variety taken regularly and well masticated give economic nutrition.

These are some of the striking ideas of Miss Carolyn Putnam Webber of Bedford, who addresses today the convention of the Massachusetts branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association at Classical High School Hall, Lynn.

Miss Webber has made considerable study of the problem of economic nutrition which concerns the selection of food, and the relationship between the amount of nutriment in food and its cost.

LAUD CATHOLIC CHARITIES' WORK

The directors of the Catholic Charities of the city are being congratulated on the great work of the past year. They aided 988 cases, according to the report of the Rev. Michael S. Scanlan, director of the charity bureau, made public in the Boston Pilot. The expenses for the year were $3,127.83, against receipts of $5,452.44.

The report was first submitted to the Reverend Joseph J. Anderson, auxiliary bishop of Boston and diocesan director of charity.

"During the past year the good offices of the bureau were enlisted in behalf of 988 cases," the report says. "Of the 988 cases handled, 565 were reported by the individuals concerned, while 172 were reported by the several clergy; 240 cases were reported by our Catholic institutions, by the State and city and the different private societies, such as the Children's Aid Society, for Prevention of Cruelty to Children; Associated Charities. Of the 988 cases, 620 were settled in the bureau, and of these 260 may be regarded as closed.

"During the past year 644 children became wards of the State. Of these 419 were Catholic."

LINER SLICES END OFF LEWIS WHARF

Smashing into Lewis wharf the Savannah liner City of Augusta, which had just arrived from Savannah, wrecked the end of the pier and tore away part of the balcony at the pilot's office in the upper story. There was some excitement among the passengers, but nobody was hurt.

RECIPE FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

The following recipe is the best that can be had for weak or disordered kidneys: "Half ounce fluid extract Buchu, half ounce Muray compound, six ounces good pure gin. Shake the bottle well each time and take one or two teaspoonfuls of the mixture after each meal and at bedtime." Any druggist will mix or supply these ingredients.

The foregoing formula comes from high medical authority and will produce quick and permanent results. It will speedily relieve backache, stomach pains, frequent and highly colored urination. These symptoms of kidney trouble require prompt attention to prevent Bright's disease or diabetes.

MAINE SHAFT WORK BEGUN

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The 266 men of the Maine who went down with their ship were remembered yesterday.

In simple but impressive ceremony the cornerstone of the Maine National Monument was laid yesterday afternoon by Rear Admiral R. H. C. Leutze, U. S. N., commandant of the United States Navy Yard, New York.

The laying of the cornerstone marked the practical fruition of an idea that was born in the brain of William Randolph Hearst within a few hours after the terrible disaster which shocked the nation. Funds for the monument which is dedicated in a wider sense to all the soldiers and sailors who fell during the Spanish War, were raised under the auspices of the New York American.

General James Grant Wilson, chairman of the Maine monument committee, said in his introductory remarks that the monument when completed will equal anything ever erected on the island.

As the cornerstone was lowered into place over the box and the tackle removed, Admiral Leutze said, slowly:

"I now declare that the cornerstone of the Maine National Monument is laid."

The address of the day by Major General Daniel Sickles followed:

"The Maine disaster was one of far reaching effects," declared the sole surviving corps commander of the Army of the Potomac. "The blowing up of the Maine by Spanish hands and by Spanish orders sounded the death knell of Spanish rule on American soil—a rule which should have been ended long before. It was a declaration of war upon the United States which this country was not slow to heed.

"The blowing up of the Maine was simply the culmination of a long series of outrages perpetrated by the slave-holders of Cuba. They murdered the men of the Virginius, and not only that but they caused the assassination of General Prim, the prime minister of Spain, when I was United States minister to Spain. They learned that General Prim agreed with me that once Cuba went under American rule slavery would be ended. So they assassinated him."

It is understood that the monument will be completed by October 1.

When completed the monument will have cost $175,000.

Among those present yesterday were H. Van Buren Magonigle, the architect, and Attilio Piccirilli, the sculptor of the monument; Morris Simons, national commander of the Spanish War Veterans; Park Commissioner Stover, and several representatives of the contracting company.

TO MAKE BROADER BROADWAY, NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—For a distance of five miles a slice is to be taken off each side of Broadway in the greatest cleaning up the famous street has ever experienced. The Board of Estimate has authorized the pruning process, which is aimed at the excessive decorations which have by slow degrees been encroaching upon the busy thoroughfare. Every obstruction which extends beyond the street line is to be sliced off and carted away.

MRS. SPRINGER TO AID SOCIAL COLONY

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Formation of the Warren Springer Colony, an idea long cherished by the millionaire, who died a short time ago, is to be carried out by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Warren Springer, to whom the estate, valued at more than $2,000,000, was left. A tract of 2,000 acres of land, sixty miles from Chicago, is to be divided among families of the congested tenement districts of Chicago.

ACTOR INJURED BY TROLLEY CAR

George Thatcher, sixty-seven years of age, a member of Dustin and William Parnum's "Littlest Rebel" Company, was severely injured in front of the Langham Hotel, Washington street, when, in crossing the street he was struck and knocked down by a south-bound trolley car.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

An unidentified man committed suicide in the lodging house at No. 339 Tremont street yesterday by shooting himself through the temple. The man was about thirty-five years of age, five feet eight inches tall and had a light complexion and brown mustache.

SARGENT TALKS ON IMMIGRANTS

George Ray Sargent, a member of the AMERICAN staff, will address the members of the Baptist Church, Milton, Monday evening on America's reception to the immigrant. It will be the first of a series of lectures under the auspices of the Baptist Church.

Mr. Sargent is perhaps one of the best posted men in Boston on foreign immigration. For a number of years he has represented the AMERICAN at the immigration Bureau and has watched the tide of immigration flow into this country through the port of Boston.

Mr. Sargent will narrate interesting incidents in connection with the influx of immigration that have come under his observation during the years he has "covered" the waterfront. Because of his knowledge of the subject an unusually interesting talk is assured.

The lecture, which will be delivered in the vestry of the church, is expected to attract a large attendance.

HOLD JEW FOR RITUAL MURDER

(By wireless to the American via Glace Bay, N. S.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 16.—The "Black Hundred" reactionaries are jubilant over the committal for trial of an uneducated Jew, Menahill Beilis, accused of the "Ritual murder" of a sixteen-year-old boy, Yustchinski, in Kieff, a year ago. The indictment cites the paragraph in the Russian criminal code which concerns "murder resulting from torture of victim." This means the prosecution will seek to prove religious sacrificial acts.

Beilis was arrested long ago, but was released for lack of evidence. A report on the case was sent by the anti-Jewish organization in Kieff to the imperial court and was returned with a "warguai note": "The Jew must be found." Beilis was re-arrested, and has been in jail six months. He is a simple man of the humblest class, and has no record as a religious fanatic.

ALLOT OPERA BOXES TODAY

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Boston Opera House today, boxes for next season will be allotted, and plans will be put under way for collecting the guarantee fund of $150,000 a year for the next three years, which is needed to maintain the opera.

Holders of boxes have sent in their renewals of subscriptions for a three-year term. The advance in price made no difference, the subscribers proving their interest in aiding the directors in working for the continuance of grand opera in Boston.

Elliot D. Jordan expressed pleasure at the response of the box-holders, and declared that a statement would be issued by the directors today after the meeting. A list of those who subscribed for boxes at the advanced price follows:

SUBMARINES TO RUN 20 MILES UNDER ICE

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 16.—One of the most remarkable submarine tests in the history of the navy is planned. Six of the little vessels will attempt a twenty-mile cruise beneath the surface of the ice-covered water on Chesapeake Bay. The tests have been arranged to give a practical demonstration of the ability of submarines to maintain a given course by use of charts and compass while beneath the ice. The Moccasin and the Viper will lead the fleet.

COURT DECIDES BUSHEL OF PEARS MUST BE HEAPED UP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The Court of Customs Appeals has settled the question: "What is an American bushel?" The Court holds that the accepted bushel measurement in the United States was the "English" "Winchester struck bushel" of 2,150.42 cubic inches, but when applied to apples and pears it should be heaped up so as to contain 2,747.715 cubic inches.

BLOOMER GIRLS FLEE INTO COLD

BLIND MAN AS PHELPS WORKER

The Phelps Fund, for the relief of Mrs. Silas N. Phelps and her family, which is being collected by the Boston Globe, has been swelled by a contribution of $11.25 from William J. Sager, a blind man of Tilton, N. H. He collected the money in that place at Rockwell Knott Store, $2; Neil C. Rogers, $2; L. M. Caverly, $1; A. Z. Baker, $1; William J. Sager, Annie E. Sager, "Phelps," Albert Sager, Olive A. Gale, O. J. Smith, Elson S. Gale and C. W. Bryant, 50 cents each; "Bachelor," E. H. Nelson and three friends, 25 cents each. With the subscription paper he certified about while collecting the money, the blind man said: "I am always more expressing, his hope that the fund will reach the $5,000 mark, and thus give the Phelps children the start in life that is their due."

The AMERICAN and other papers are also securing contributions for the Phelps family. The fund now totals $3,548.85.

The largest sum sent to the fund during the day came from the Rev. A. S. Bissell, pastor of the Baptist Church at Northwood, N. H., with the accompanying note:

Being very much interested in the noble work you are doing for the unfortunate Phelps family, I thought I would go through the shoe shop here and see if I could raise a few dollars. The result was that in the shops and village I raised $25. Please find enclosed check for same.

Red Tag Sale

Steadily Increases In Value-Giving For This Reason:

The sale is progressive. As the lots grow smaller the prices are made smaller in order to move the goods along faster. This is sure to add fresh interest, almost daily. Again, certain low-priced lots sell out altogether and higher-priced lots are cut in price to take their place. So you see, there is always something new on sale in a new low price.

The genuineness of Red Tag Bargains is too self-evident to admit of doubt. The mark down story is laid before you by the tickets. The original white price ticket remains on the article to be sold—the Red Tag shows the reduced price it is to be sold at. This leaves nothing to the imagination—you get exactly what the Red Tags tell you.

FIND LOST GIRL NEARLY FROZEN

Mary Kenney, the eleven-year-old girl who disappeared from her home at No. 30 Preble street, South Boston, last Wednesday, was found this morning in Peter and Ferguson of the City Point station erecting in the vestibule of a house. The child was almost frozen. She was taken to the home of a Mrs. Kelly, where she was treated before she was sent home.

Mary attended the John Andrew School. Several notes were sent to her home by teachers, complaining of her conduct. Last Tuesday, when Mary was informed that her father was going to whip her, she ran out, and that was the last seen of her until today.

Wednesday night Mary went to the home of a relative in Dorchester. The next day she went to the home of a friend where she spent the day, and when told to go home she wandered about the street without food and when night came on she crept into the vestibule.

Patrick Kenney, her father, was so grieved he said he would never speak a cross word to little Mary as long as he lives. Mary is in bed suffering from the cold and she may be there some time.

HAWLEY WARD BIDES HER TIME

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Henry Peterson, former chauffeur for Edwin Hawley, admits that Miss Margaret Cameron has in her possession documents which she believes entitle her to a substantial portion of the $35,000,000 estate. The documents Miss Cameron secured from among Mr. Hawley's private papers during a visit she paid to Mr. Hawley's country place at Babylon on February 5, it is asserted.

It is known the abstraction of these papers and the subsequent disappearance of the young woman, following a words quarrel with William P. Hawley and Walter S. Crandall, two of the administrators, have prevented a proper co-ordination of the vast diversified interests in the matter.

Peterson, the chauffeur, together with John Williams, superintendent of the Babylon estate, it is said, were called into Mr. Hawley's library last September and were ordered to affix their signatures to certain documents which Mr. Hawley had drawn.

"Dolly" Cameron was present and she is believed to have prompted her sister to take such action.

According to Peterson the servants at Babylon still regard Miss Cameron as their mistress.

NEWLANDS' CURE FOR BANK EVILS

By FRANCIS G. NEWLANDS,
Senator from Nevada.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—I believe almost all the banking power of the country is concentrated in New York. There are a few men of great ability and wealth who are the leaders in the banking and financial world and their views are generally accepted by the banking fraternity.

I also believe that, owing to a defective banking law, the country banks are permitted to deposit a large portion of the reserves, which ought to be in their own vaults, in the reserve cities, of which New York is the chief. They are tempted by the New York interest payments.

Anti-Trust Law Won't Apply.

The banks in which they are deposited naturally wish to make them profitable, and they loan them out on call on Stock Exchange securities. The people's representatives in Congress are responsible for not changing this law. The country banks and the great city banks do what is perfectly legal, but what results every few years in a financial panic.

The moneys collected by the insurance companies, by the big transportation companies, by the trusts, and the reserves of the country banks flow to New York, and thus a few men, leaders in the banking and financial business, practically direct the investment of these funds. They are called the Money Trust. The anti-trust law will not apply to their operations.

It is proposed to decentralize this whole system by the creation of a central reserve association that will have control of the reserves of the country on the ground that it can direct these reserves to the point of danger, as the commander-in-chief would send troops to the point of attack and thus prevent bank panics.

Decentralization Advocated.

I believe we should have a process of decentralization rather than one of centralization in banking. We should amend our banking laws to encourage the creation of a banking centre in each State. We should, as a gradual process, find completely or suddenly diminish the flow of the reserves to the East and keep them in the financial centres of each State. We can do this by simple legislation that will strengthen the national banks in each State, enable them to form an association with the State banks for protection against bank panics, and concentrate their reserves at the point of attack.

We must strengthen the States in the exercise of their functions, both governmental, political, economic and financial.

An investigation may be necessary in order to attract public attention to this condition; none is necessary to attract mine. I have known it for years, and have sought again and again to remedy it by legislation without avail.

If there is an investigation sensational issue must be avoided. There is nothing so sensitive as money.

If You Are Troubled With Rheumatism, Elmer & Amend's N. Y. 2851 will relieve you. T. Metcalf Co., Boston, carry it.

MISS FERGUSON, WHO WON BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

SARAH FERGUSON

Miss Ferguson, who wept during hearing, was moved to tears by reference to illness and death of her brothers and sisters.

MISS FERGUSON SAD, NOT ANGRY

Miss Sarah Ferguson, who recently was awarded a verdict giving her three hundred dollars in her breach of promise case against Hector Mathewson, declares it was a mistake to say that during the hearing she cried from bad temper.

"I cried," said Miss Ferguson, "when Mathewson testified that my brothers and sisters died of consumption and that I never told him of that before we made all preparations for the wedding. He knew me for eight years and he knew very well what they died of, and it was only because he brought them into the case that made me cry, for I never would have cried over anything else he testified to.

"I don't look as though I had a bad temper, do I?" said Miss Ferguson. "Why, I did everything in my power to keep as cool as possible at the trial, and it was only when Mathewson brought in about my dead relatives that I broke down."

She case was tried before Judge Lawton in the Suffolk Superior Court, on February 7, and at the time decision was reserved, but later she was awarded a verdict of $300.

CHOIR SINGER GETS A SECRET DIVORCE

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Feb. 16.—Lillian Frank Downing, the beautiful wife of Carl Downing, former soloist in the Presbyterian Church, Greenwich, Ct., and a leader in fashionable society, has been granted a decree of divorce. A report has been entered in the Superior Court here by the referee, former Justice Cyrus Robinson.

The papers were ordered sealed, but it is known that Downing was charged with misconduct in Schenectady, N. Y., last June. The referee was unable to learn the surname of the woman, and it is said she was not more than sixteen years old.

POTHIER SIGNS NEW TAX BILL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 16.—The three-year struggle of the Rhode Island corporations to defeat the passage of an act which would place an added tax upon their corporate excess, ended when Governor Aram J. Pothier affixed his signature to the Act of 1912, which a few days ago passed both branches of the Legislature.

The struggle to beat the bill has been carried on through three general assemblies and was only brought to an end when the attorneys for the corporations became convinced that resistance was no longer of any avail.

The fight began in 1910, when an act creating a State Tax Commission and defining its duties, was introduced in the Legislature.

No sooner had the intent of the bill become known, than the corporations of the State began to turn their batteries upon it. Attorneys representing them appeared at the hearings given on the bill, pointing out what they claimed to be its many defects, and charging that its enactment would mean all kinds of hardships to local manufacturing concerns.

After running the gauntlet of a strong lobby in 1910, the bill passed the House only to meet its fate in the Senate. Again, in the following year, the measure was resurrected, but the same opposition was once more lined up against it.

The lobby got to work and this time when the bill reached the House, it was overwhelmingly defeated and sent back to the committee by which it had been reported.

Rhode Islanders began to despair of ever getting a chance to test the tax laws, but Governor Pothier persisted in his efforts, his consent to run for a fourth term being largely the result of his determination to make one more fight for the measure in which he was so sincerely interested.

Three Beauty Aids Women Should Know

(From French Beauty Monthly.)

"Any woman who wants to have lovely and beautiful hair can do so if she will use a dry shampoo once a week. Just put a cupful of cornmeal in a fruit jar and mix with it an original package of therox; sprinkle a little on the head and brush out. It brushes out easily taking all dirt with it, and leaving the hair clean, bright, wavy and full of life. This treatment causes hair to grow.

"To avoid enlarged pores, dark and discolored blotches, wrinkles, superfluous hairs and blemishes of complexion, stop using fancy cosmetics and apply each morning only the simple lotion made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in half a pint of witch hazel. Do this and your complexion soon will be soft, smooth and altogether charming.

"Worry is a beauty destroyer. If there are children in your home, don't borrow trouble, but prepare for emergencies by keeping at hand a jar of Mother's Salve. The world never saw its equal as a healer of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains and aches. It is splendid for sore throat or croup, too."

All the Tone-Quality of the $200 Instruments in This One at $59

—which is the spot-cash price, but which includes an outfit of 12 double-disc records (24 selections)

And you can pay for it at the rate of $5 a month.

The Offer:

We agree to deliver to any address in Boston one of these Grafonolas, together with an assortment of 12 double-disc records (24 selections) to be selected by us, or by you if you prefer. In addition we include, free, one "Demonstration" double-disc record.

The machine and the records will be sent on three days' free trial to any home in the city.

So confident are we that the instrument will please even the most critical, that we agree to refund all money paid by any purchaser who may not in every way be satisfied with the instrument.

An unconditional guarantee as to material and workmanship accompanies each instrument sold, the guarantee being signed by the manufacturers and countersigned by us.

This is the first offer of this sort we ever made. We do it now because we intend either to place a Grafonola in every home in Boston, or at least give every householder in Boston an opportunity to own one.

The Instrument:

This beautiful Grafonola "Favorite," the first instrument of this latest improved type to be offered at anything like its price, is probably the best that its price will ever buy. It seems pretty clear that the limit has been reached. As a musical instrument, it is all that any musical instrument can be, and all that those costing $200 can claim to be.

The cabinet is built of the choicest mahogany (or of beautiful quarter-sawn oak) polished like the costliest piano.

The "Favorite" plays any size of record—three at one winding, and can be rewound while running, the motor being a powerful triple-spring drive, absolutely silent and always positive and reliable. The tone arm leads the sound waves from the reproducer into the sound chamber, where it is amplified and poured out through the front, subject to reduction in volume by the partial or complete closing of the double doors. The start-and-stop lever is combined with a speed regulator lever, all in handy reach. The turn-table stands above the top of the cabinet when the lid is raised, admitting easy access to the record and needle.

It is an instrument that any man, of any means, may be proud to own and use for a lifetime.

The Records:

The outfit of records we have selected from the best selling and most popular of all classes, and includes the famous Sextette from "Lucia" and the equally famous Quartette from "Rigoletto," which ought to be extremely interesting to any of your friends who own talking machines and have paid $15 for those two selections alone. You are at liberty to make your own selection of records if you prefer.

In addition to those 24 selections, we will give you, free, one of our "Demonstration" double-disc records, which everybody admits is worth at least sixty cents of any man's money. All of these records are guaranteed to be superior to all others in tone, in surface and in durability.

They will outwear any other make of records almost two to one.

TAKE STORE ADJOINING ON TEMPLE PLACE

For the third time within three years the growth of our business in Boston necessitates sweeping changes in our store and the acquirement of additional floor space.

Our success in Boston has been nothing short of marvellous, and in the past six months we have been so hard pressed for room that we could not handle the trade properly.

More space HAD to be found to relieve this congestion, and we acquired the store adjoining ours on Temple Place.

So extensive are the alterations necessary that we will be obliged to clear out everything at once—goods, fixtures and all—and temporarily suspend business on the first floor until the work is completed.

In order to effect an immediate clearance of everything in our store we have cut prices with a reckless disregard to cost or value. A visit to our store will reveal the greatest price-slaughter ever witnessed in Boston—and you know we are not given to sensational language in advertising.

Woman's Letter in Copperplate Hand Entered in "Boy" Contest

Country Boy Editor,
Boston American,
Boston.

61 Thomas Park,
South Boston,
February 15, 1912.

Editor American,

Which boy has the greater opportunity for success in life? The city boy because he has more time than the country boy. The schools are better in the city. He is obliged to attend school, whether he will or not. For pleasure, the theatres are now more enlightening and instructive, and there are lectures and travelogues which are accessible to boys with a taste in that direction. The city boy has more good books at his disposal than the country boy, also more ways in which to earn money. He can study music, art, trades, etc. There are many advantages which the country boy does not possess. A great deal depends, of course, on the boy. Our present Mayor, John F. Fitzgerald, is a good example.

Yours truly,
Miss J. F. Burchill

Tinware That Wears

Lasting power in tinware is not accidental. It depends absolutely on the quality and weight of the tin and the methods of manufacture. The cheapest ware is sure to prove the most expensive, because of its short resistance to rust. The durability of tinware does not depend on its strongest parts but on its weakest. Mechanically stamped ware is stretched thin in some parts and wrinkled and thick in others. The thin spots soon rust through and the article is thrown away.

MASON'S TIN-WARE

"Tinware that Wears"

is made of heavy charcoal tin plate coated with tin (produced for our exclusive use). The stock is not stamped and made thin in spots, but is cut, shaped and soldered together. Desperate Desmond

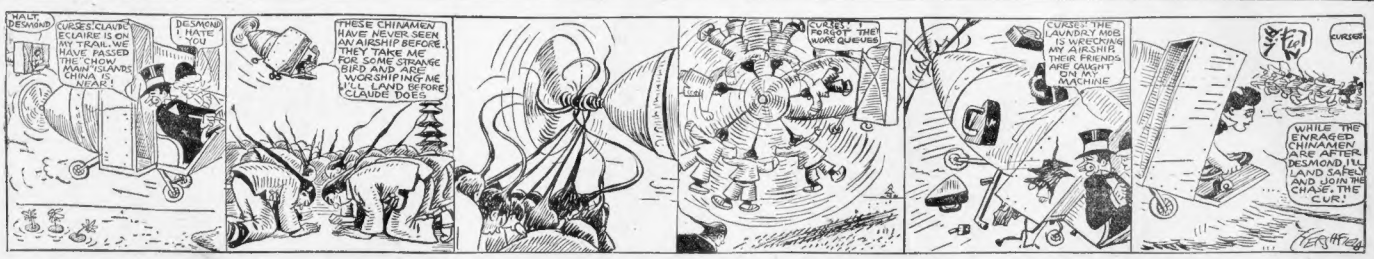
When an Airship Propeller Gets Mixed Up with a Lot of Queues—Look Out!

Copyright, 1912, National News Association.

By Hershfield



MALT DESMOND
CURSES! CLAUDE ECLAIRE IS ON MY TRAIL. WE HAVE PASSED THE 'CHOW MAIN' GUARDS CHINA IS NEAR!
DESMOND I HATE YOU
THESE CHINAMEN HAVE NEVER SEEN AN AIRSHIP BEFORE. THEY TAKE ME FOR SOME STRANGE BIRD AND ARE WORSHIPING ME I'LL LAND BEFORE CLAUDE DOES
CURSES! FORGOT THE WORK QUEUES
CURSES! THE LAUNDRY MOB IS WRECKING MY AIRSHIP THEIR FRIENDS ARE CAUGHT ON MY MACHINE
CURSES!
WHILE THE ENRAGED CHINAMEN ARE AFTER DESMOND, I'LL LAND SAFELY AND JOIN THE CHASE. THE CUR!

In a wild flight through the air Desmond carries along the captive Romanond. His airship has sped over continents, but the villain will make no pause until he reaches China, where he hopes to find secondrels as base as himself. In the disturbed condition of that country, unscrupulous persons are sure to attain a certain prominence which would be impossible in more peaceful times.

As the Chinese see Desmond approaching in his airship, they cannot guess what strange creature he is. Such a strange manifestation from the skies is not allowed to pass unnoticed. All the superstitious natives take the advent of Desmond for a portent of terrible things to come, so they bow down in submission to this unheralded visitor. It is the first time Desmond has been thus saluted.

And now the unfortunate Chinese get in wrong again. As they bow down in submission to their strange visitor the exremely polite Celestials are hooked up by their queues in the propeller of the airship. This is pretty tough on the Chinese, as everybody knows how unpleasant it is to be pulled around by the hair. It is particularly tough on inoffensive Chinese who were merely trying to be polite to an utter stranger.

As soon as the queues of the Chinese catch in the propeller of the airship up in the air go the Chinese. The spectacle of a bunch of Celestials spinning around in the air like a Catharine wheel is calculated to make almost anybody laugh, but Desmond is far from jocund. He knows what a terrible fate overtakes the foreigner who falls into the hands of the Chinese.

Sure enough, as the Chinese see their companions whirled into the air they rush to the nearest laundries for weapons, and these they find in the flatirons. A hail of these heavy missiles rains upon the airship and effectually wrecks it, despite the manoeuvres of Desmond. It will be a hazardous task for the scoundrel to land in this province of China.

"I'm the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond, "but the Chinks are after me!" The villain is being pursued by the friends of the Chinese hurt in the airship accident, while Claude Eclaire, hero, is landing from his airship. Our hero is in hot pursuit of the villain who has stolen the beautiful Romanond. For the details of the chase through China see tomorrow's series of pictures.

Anthracite coal operators deny that they are fomenting a possible strike, and say they have a strong case for raising prices. Their representatives met in New York yesterday and said: "Far from viewing the possibility of a strike complacently the operators are very desirous that nothing shall occur to interrupt the operation of the mines, and there is no thought of a general advance in price." They called attention to the fact that while the cost of everything else required for living has gone up the big coal companies have not changed prices for nine years. While American operators are seeing a peaceful solution of difficulties this side of the Atlantic, a cablegram from Glasgow says: "The coming of the workmen are accentuated February 29. The furnace owners are of the opinion that a national coal strike is inevitable. It will affect 800,000 men. To avert a strike the miners' officers must accept the principle of a minimum wage for all men and boys employed underground.

John D. Johnson, general counsel for the Waterways Improvement, signed in St. Louis last night, after the H. Clay Pierce faction had named the Rockefeller interests from control, a statement to the effect that the directors of the Company of New Jersey only "feigned dissolution" in response to the United States Supreme Court decree, and he calls upon Attorney-General Wickersham to act in the appointment of an Oil Trust in the hands of a receiver. He says that the Standard Oil Co. is the subsidiary which has had the courage to oppose the Pierce combination which practically Standard Oil representatives at the head of the Pierce combination. In other words, he says Standard Oil is trying to perpetuate the control of the New Jersey Company has $400,000 capital stock. It has made no money, as a demonstration by the fact that in one year it declared a dividend of 40 per cent. It sells at $1,350 a share. Standard Oil owns 68 per cent. of it, but at the annual meeting yesterday other faction refused to count the 2,067 shares offered by the Rockefeller faction. The matter will be fought out in the courts.

When the polls were closed H. Clay Pierce declared the directors proposed by him had been elected. The new directors unanimously re-elected H. Clay Pierce chairman of the board, May Arthur Young president, and Charles M. Adams vice president. Charles M. Adams, now secretary and treasurer of the Waterways Improvement, was elected president of the company, to succeed C. A. Pierce, who resigned. Mr. Adams succeeds Standard Oil Co. counsel, and Adams was to be retained as secretary and treasurer.

The copper metal market picked up some yesterday because of demand at Europe and almost straight advance in prices. Lake sold at 12½, though such the other grades were advanced that the lake price is now only established at 12½.

Judge Angell of the United States District Court in Detroit has appointed Frederic A. Delano, Will iam K. Ripley and Edward A. Pryor, all of Boston, as Wabash receivers, and they were given authority to issue receivers for about $19,500,000 to improve the property.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS MAYFLOWER IS COPPER FEATURE

SEE DANGER IN AUTO FEE SPLIT

By J. C. KERRISON.

There seems to be little likelihood of Mayor Fitzgerald's proposition to so divide the automobile registration and license fees as to give a portion to the Metropolitan and Boston Park systems being recommended by the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

At the hearing yesterday, Mayor Fitzgerald advanced what to his mind were good and sufficient reasons for such a division, but he was the only advocate in favor of the measure, it being opposed by the organized motorists through their different associations.

The measure is not a new one, it having very much the earmarks of the plan proposed a year ago, and which, it will be remembered, was given leave to withdraw.

There are several reasons why it is believed the recommendation will not receive the favorable consideration of the Legislature, one of the most important of which is that if this action is taken relative to the Metropolitan and Boston Park systems, some similar action will necessarily be expected by Worcester, Springfield and other cities that have park roads which are being used by the motorists. In other words the cities will say what is good for Boston should be good for them.

An interesting address on the sleeve valve motor was made by Charles Y. Knight, the inventor of the same, before a large audience of members of the Massachusetts Automobile Club last evening.

Mr. Knight told in a very concise manner of the work that had been accomplished with the sleeve valve motor, one of the most successful and advantageous advances in motor construction.

He recited his experiences with the sleeve valve engine abroad, telling how it had met all the requirements of the experts of Europe and proved a success wherever put to the severest test that could possibly be given the same at the famous land track in England.

He also described the different workings of the motor, explaining clearly and in a manner that left no question that at the close of the address everyone was thoroughly convinced of the great value of the sleeve valve engine to the motor industry.

Mr. Knight will address the members of the Worcester Automobile Club in the near future, and will be in great demand to New York. He comes back to Boston on Monday next, when he will address the members of the Bay State Automobile Association, which will be one of his last lectures prior to his departure for England.

HOUSEHOLD ECONOMY

FOR THE

WOMAN WHO SAVES

YOU, MISS CAREFUL HOUSEWIFE, save on everything you buy for your table. You buy tub butter because it costs less than print butter, but just as good. You buy a side of lamb and get the chops, roast and soup bones. You buy evaporated cream for the coffee instead of fresh cream. And so on right through the list. Now, why don't you use the same good sense on the so-called luxuries? Listen—We sell pianos—all kinds, all prices. If you want a piano, come out here and we'll sell you one at a price that will save you enough to have ice cream and cake every day if you want it. You can get pianos here at lower prices than anywhere else in the world. And our terms are the most liberal. Make it a point to come out here and talk it over with us this week. Buy a piano and let yourself and your children have some enjoyment in life, to break the monotony of household drudgery.

The Light of Liberty Replaces the Old Lamp of Superstition

And China, the Great New Republic of the East, May One Day Lead in Her Ideas of Liberty as She Once Led in Science and Learning

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner.

The old lamp has gone out in China. The lurid, flickering flame of superstition and ignorance is extinguished. And the people, determined to govern themselves, light the lamp of liberty and hold it aloft.

Success to them and to the new republic. May the nation that we have looked upon as a yellow peril and an Asiatic menace, be known in the future as the source of light and the giver of happiness to a vast population.

May the day come when the Chinese will be as eager to stay at home and work in the light of the lamp newly lit as they have been eager hitherto to escape and come to a land that could not welcome them.

China has set an example for the world in the effecting of an almost peaceful revolution.

The Empress, monthpiece of wise advisers who protect the baby Emperor, announces that "the glory of one family"—that of the Emperor—must give way to the rights of the people and that—a sentence for some kings in America to remember—"the will of Heaven is discernible in the wishes of the people."

A new lamp replaces the old lamp; a new light shines where there was darkness. The founders of this new republic have some stony roads and some rough places ahead of them. But their beginning is auspicious. May their progress be steady, peaceful and their republic secure.

When a Boston Policeman Says "Take That!"

Accompanying the Well-Chosen Words With a Crack From His Lignum-Vitae, You Want to Say: "Thank You, Officer, I Feel Better Already!"—And if You Happen to Have Any Fool Friends in the Neighborhood, Advise Them to G'wan Out o' That!—This is Why

Do you happen to have a friend who, occasionally, or even semi-demi-occasionally, is almost in the way of losing his senses and becoming rough? What do you do for him?

Did you know that, according to Dr. Stephen O'Meara, "two blows, or slaps, given without unnecessary force and at the right time," may have the effect of bringing the patient to his senses?

We have recently had this somewhat startling but decidedly important physiological truth called to our attention by the finding of Judge O'Meara on the complaint of a citizen—he seems to be a poor ignoramus of a citizen, from what little we learn about him in the decision of the Solomon of Pemberton square—who thought he had seen a Lagrange street police officer beating a prisoner.

The innocent bystander, who did not know—the eleventh commandment and one or two other things—immediately wrote to the Police Commissioner of Boston, who turned the case over to a trial board of police officials, who held a private hearing. The trial board reported to the Police Commissioner, and the Police Commissioner—who writes well, if not wisely—saw fit to say a few words to other citizens who may see policemen clubbing their prisoners.

We now quote Police Commissioner Stephen O'Meara, and the capital letters are our own:

"A respectable citizen sees BY CHANCE ONCE IN HIS LIFE-TIME a struggle between a policeman and a resisting prisoner. The policeman strikes him in order to overcome the resistance, as he has the legal AND MORAL RIGHT to do.

"It is not a pretty spectacle, and to a citizen UNINFORMED as to the actual facts and UNACCUSTOMED to the sight of violence, it is so shocking that he aides INSTINCTIVELY with the prisoner.

"Should he complain to the Commissioner he will write, as the complainant in this case wrote, that the prisoner was 'a little man,' while the policeman was a big one; that he considers it 'a very cowardly act,' 'a cowardly assault on a helpless man by an employe of the city.'

"The citizen who complained, with EVERY INTENTION TO BE FAIR and MOVED ONLY BY HUMANE IMPULSES, DID NOT KNOW that the prisoner, as testified to by himself before the trial board, weighed 180 pounds; that his work in Summer was street paving and in Winter blacksmithing; or that when under the influence of liquor, as he was when at the signal box, he was a hard man to deal with.

"HE DID NOT KNOW that the man had been taken after a fall from a car, with his head cut and bleeding, and that he had resisted all the way to the box.

"HE DID NOT KNOW that at the box he had threatened the policeman and attempted to assault him, or THAT THE TWO BLOWS, OR SLAPS, GIVEN WITHOUT UNNECESSARY FORCE AND AT THE RIGHT TIME, HAD BROUGHT HIM TO HIS SENSES and probably prevented a rough-and-tumble fight.

"HE DID NOT KNOW that at the police station, in accordance with the original intention, a doctor dressed the injuries received by the man in falling from a car, and that the CITY OF BOSTON PAID THE BILL.

"HE DID NOT KNOW, ESPECIALLY, THAT THE MAN himself, accustomed as he was to the rougher experiences of life, WOULD EXPRESS UNDER OATH A FEELING OF GRATITUDE, not of resentment, FOR THE TREATMENT WHICH HE HAD RECEIVED THROUGHOUT."

We do not know that we have anything to add to this remarkable finding by a remarkable Police Commissioner. We trust that what has happened to the observant citizen who was MOVED ONLY BY HUMANE IMPULSES, but who DID NOT KNOW, poor fellow, may be a salutary lesson to all who, like him, are moved under similar circumstances to "take the matter up with Pemberton square." Are we wrong, judging only from what we have just read, in assuming that Mr. Stephen O'Meara means thus to admonish the officious busybodies among his fellow-citizens?

The name of the complainant in this remarkable case is not vouchsafed in the clipping before us. After all, it is a small matter beside the more important identification of the prisoner who was brought to his SENSES with two blows, OR slaps, and who afterwards—UNDER OATH, mark you—expressed his gratitude to the cop who had biffed him.

In this cheerful prisoner of Station 4 we recognize, as our readers must have recognized, Mr. Martin Chuzzlewitt's jolly man-servant. Who but Mark Tapley, come to America to see what was doing by way of celebrating the Dickens centenary, would be grateful for a couple of wallops with a stick of lignum-vitae?

A Cherry Tree Joke Book, 16 pages of timely fun, illustrated by the AMERICAN'S world-famous comic artists, handsomely bound in colored cover for permanent use, will be issued as a special supplement FREE in Greater Boston with next Sunday's AMERICAN.

Uncle Trusty!

By F. OPPER

"William, I would suggest that you had better stand on the bank. The ice is very thin, and the water is extremely wet. If Theodore falls in, of course we shall be awfully sorry. Keep on pushing, Elihu; what did I have you for?"

Do You Always Tell the Truth? Does It Pay?

We Ask the Question Because We Are Thinking of George Washington and Tom Powers. You Know About Washington and the Cherry Tree. In the Sunday AMERICAN You Shall See Mr. Powers' Drawing, "Young Bilkins, Who Could Not Tell a Lie." Funny? O, Di Mi!

How far would a young man get in commercial life today who took for his motto, and stuck to it, the phrase which some imaginative historian has tagged upon the youthful Washington, "I cannot tell a lie"?

The question will be answered variously by various minds. Personally we believe that the world today demands the man of truth as it has never asked for him before. He is wanted not only in business, and in the professions, but in politics and statesmanship. For that matter, he is necessary in newspaper shops. He is indispensable in the pulpit, and, we are glad to say, observation assures us that he is far more numerous there than anywhere else. Which is a hopeful sign.

We regret to say, however, that our old friend Tom Powers—Mr. T. E. Powers of Connecticut—is slightly pessimistic on the subject of the truthful young man in business. We are somewhat surprised at this attitude of Mr. Powers, whom we had long looked upon as not only the funniest of American cartoonists, but by long odds the most optimistic of American optimists.

Mr. Powers was asked to do something for "The Little Hatchet Joke Book," copies of which will be given away next Sunday with every copy of the Boston Sunday AMERICAN sold in Greater Boston. Mr. Powers has responded with a two-page drawing depicting the career of "Young Bilkins, Who Could Not Tell a Lie." He takes young Bilkins away from college and finds him places successively in a store, a restaurant and an office. In each of these places young Bilkins answers questions truthfully. He does not stay long in any of them. Then, alas! he adopts a different course, with much success.

The story of "Young Bilkins, Who Could Not Tell a Lie," is one of the funniest that T. E. Powers has drawn for some time. Every copy will be worth ten times the price of a single admission to the Sunday AMERICAN family.

Another seasonable feature of "The Little Hatchet Joke Book": is Bob Burdette's "The Little Hatchet Story." Fathers, bachelor uncles, friends of the family, anybody and everybody who ever attempted to relate the cherry tree anecdote to a five-year-old boy will enjoy Bob Burdette's story better than a President's message.

The "Little Hatchet Joke Book" will cost NOTHING. It will be GIVEN AWAY in Greater Boston with every copy of the Boston Sunday AMERICAN.

Little Bobbie

He Writes About An Asiatic Seeress

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

I AM glad that your are going to be at home tonite, husband, sed the ex to Pa wen he cum hoam. There is a Asiatic seeress cumming up here tonite to seer. She knows all about your past & your future the minit she seez you. Don't you think she must be a wonderful woman to know all about your future?

Fairly wonderful, Pa sed, but I think that knowing my future is only a middling accomplishment. If she knows half of my past she must be a wizard. It is my past that she has got to show me, sed Pa.

She will show you all rite, sed Ma. Who is this wunderful She? sed Pa. I thought that Pa was beginning for to git kind of sneezy. It seems to me, Pa sed, that you bring moar queer peepul to the house than any hostess that ever hostessed. Between the regular club wimmen that cum here, Pa sed, & the bugs like the one that is cumming tonite, you mak home life a peculier proposishun.

Just then the Asia-tic seeress calm in. She had her vail on & a long cloke & she had a crys-tal ball in her hand. Wen she took off her vail Pa went rite over and shook hands with her. She was a butiful woman. I am glad to meet you, sed Pa. this is my little son Bobbie. My wife tells me that you can read the future & the past. Yes, sed the lady. All I need is two rooms in wich to work. I mite use the library & the living room. Yure wife & yure little son can be the witnesses wen I read yure past, so as to prove that everything that I say is the right thing. It wuddent matter about witnesses wen I read yure future.

I see, sed Pa. Pa was gitting kind of pale. I was thinking, Pa sed, that it mite be a better skeem for you to read my future in front of the folks, and read the past with me & me along.

That cannot be, sed the seer-ess. The Norns have decreed otherwise.

Who is the Norns, sed Pa.

It is a old Viking word for Fate, sed the seer-ess. Come, I will first read yure past.

No, sed Pa, there will be no show this evening. Wen I was young, seeress, there was certain things that calm into my life wich I am afrade to have my son Hasea to.

The son can go to bed, sed the seer-ess.

No, mudam, sed Pa, the son can remain.

& that is why Pa likes me so. I stuck to him until the seer-ess went hoam, & she didest tell Pa's future or his past either.

Savings Bank Insurance

Editor AMERICAN:

Being a constant reader of your paper, and knowing that you are always interested in the welfare of the common people in general, I wish you would inform me and the public how we can take advantage of the Savings Bank insurance. There are thousands of people in this Commonwealth, who would like to belong to this system of insurance, if they knew how and whom to apply to for information to become members of this insurance system, which I believe is one of the greatest movements that was ever undertaken in this grand old Commonwealth.

Hoping to hear from you on this matter as soon as possible, I remain,

Yours truly,

THOMAS F. CONNELLY.

No. 15 Minot street, Reading, Mass.

Mr. Thomas F. Connelly, 15 Minot street, Reading, Mass.

Dear Mr. Connelly:

Your letter under date of February 2d to the Editor of the Boston AMERICAN has been referred to me for answer.

We are glad to know of your interest in Savings Bank Life Insurance, and believe you are right when you say there are many persons in this Commonwealth who would like to take advantage of this form of insurance. There is no question as to its value, and it is only necessary to acquaint the people with our methods for men to take advantage of it. I trust that we shall be able to have the information which you desire printed in the Boston AMERICAN before long.

At the present time any person in Massachusetts may apply direct to any of the three savings banks having insurance departments—the Whitman Savings Bank, the People's Savings Bank of Brockton, and the Berkshire County Savings Bank of Pittsfield, for insurance or old age pensions. Application for insurance may also be made at this office, No. 161 Devonshire street, Boston.

We are establishing as rapidly as possible public agencies in various towns and cities where persons may apply for insurance and pay their premiums. The best place for these public agencies is the savings banks, and there are thirteen savings banks in Massachusetts which have become agencies for savings bank life insurance, and we hope to see this number rapidly increase in the future. Possibly you might be able to induce the Mechanics Savings Bank of Reading to become a public agency for savings bank life insurance.

At the present time there are over 150 agencies in manufacturing establishments throughout the Commonwealth.

If there are men's clubs or other organizations with which you are connected, I should be glad to arrange to address them on the subject of Savings Bank Life Insurance if you could bring such an address about.

I should be glad to hear from you in the way of suggestions as to how, in your opinion, savings bank life insurance may be brought more widely to the attention of the people.

Very sincerely yours,

HARRY W. KIMBALL,
Field secretary.
